Train Crash Fatal To 4

WAUSEON, Ohio (AP) — Railroad officials hope a crewman who leaped from the engine of a train seconds before it collided with another can help them determine what caused the crash that left four crewmen dead and himself and another crewman injured.

The trains collided in a rural area about 35 miles west of Toledo early today.

Authorities identified the dead as Eugene O. Fuller of Brooklyn, Mich.; Robert E. Green of Elkhart, Ind.; P.E. Spray, of Elkhart, Ind.; and W.H. Davis of Toledo, Ohio. The ages of the four were unavailable.

Three other crewmen, who were in the rear of the trains, escaped injury, according to Penn Central spokesman Howard Gilbert.

According to Gilbert, B.J. Fuson of Walbridge, Ohio, brakeman on the westbound train, managed to jump from the engine seconds before impact. The other injured man, D.L. Phillips, of Maumee, Ohio, conductor on the eastbound train, was riding in the caboose at the time of the accident.

Phillips and Fuson were admitted to the Fulton County Health Center at Wauseon, where they were listed in fair condition early today.

Ashville Girl Wins State Jaycee Award

Miss Tammy Sue Shields, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy B. Shields, 213 Powell St., Ashville, has been named one of Ohio Jaycees Outstanding Young Citizens.

Annually, the Ohio Jaycees recognize five high school students in the state who have demonstrated excellence in their participation in home, school and community.

Miss Shields is a senior at Teays Valley High School where she is active in the National Honor Society, girls' athletics, band, choir, Drama Club, Future Homemakers of America and Future Teachers of America.

She is also active in the First English Lutheran Church of Ashville, 4-H and Girl Scouts.

As an active citizen of the community, Miss Shields has been recognized locally for her achievements. She was nominated for the state Jaycee award by the Ashville Jaycees. She was the Jaycee Wives

According to the Gilbert, the railroad operates parallel tracks at the accident site, and the trains should have passed each other safely.

Gilbert said that since Fuson is the only surviving witness to the crash, authorities hope he will be able to shed some light on the accident.

Local law enforcement officials said fuel from the diesel engines exploded and burned immediately after the collision. The fires and wreckage reportedly hindered recovery of the four dead crewmen.

Gilbert said one of the trains was a 70-car freight operating from Elkhart, Ind., to Selkirk, near Albany, N.Y., while the second was a 91-car freight operating from Syracuse, N.Y., to Elkhart, Ind.

Railroad officials said about 20 cars left the track. The trains were carrying general freight.

The crash occurred approximately midway between the villages of Wauseon and Archbold.

There were no reports of casualties other than the train crewmen.

According to Gilbert, the Amtrak's Chicago-to New York train, which normally uses the tracks, was to be rerouted south through Fort Wayne, Ind., today.

Guatemala Toll Tops 2,000 From Earthquake

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala (AP) — Aid poured into Guatemala today as the estimated death toll from the devastating earthquake Wednesday rose to more than 2,000.

"The 2,000 figure is conservative," said Col. Manuel Angel Ponce, head of the Emergency Rescue Committee. "We think it may be higher."

"We are still receiving reports from the interior of the country. Many areas are still without communication and we just do not know how serious the damage really is."

Officials said at least 3,000 others were injured in Guatemala.

The U.S. Embassy reported no American casualties although it was the height of the tourist season and damage in Guatemala City was heavy. Relief officials appealed for plasma, antibiotics and other medical supplies.

Farmers Unhappy With Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers have been complaining for nearly three years about periodic government curbs on exports and some of them say a major eruption may be at hand.

"We, like other groups, are being pushed by farmers who are darned upset, and they want something done," says Jerry Rees, executive vice president of the National Association of Wheat Growers.

The wheat people are trying to raise $1 million for a possible court challenge of the Ford administration's export policies which, in the most recent example, led to an embargo last summer on sales of grain and soybeans to the Soviet Union and Poland.

Another unhappy group is the American Soybean Association, which on Wednesday delivered a petition signed by 40,000 growers asking Congress to help head off further export controls and to give the Agriculture Department Department a larger voice in foreign-policy matters affecting farmers.

Other commodity groups and some general farm organizations such as the National Farmers Union and the American Farm Bureau Federation also have complained bitterly about occasional export restraints and what they feel to be an intrusion into farm markets by other agencies such as the departments of state, treasury and labor.

William Prichard of Louisville, Ga., vice president of the soybean group, said Wednesday that farmers normally are "a compassionate and patriotic people" but could become militant if survival is at stake.

3 Indicted In Murder

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Three persons have been indicted on charges of aggravated murder in the death of Detroit banker James Crawford, Licking County Common Pleas Court officials disclosed today.

William Nabozny, 38, of Detroit; John Garside, 38 and Sharon Scheurell, 24, both of Columbus, were named in the indictments which were handed up Saturday, said Licking County Prosecutor Neil Laughlin.

There was no word on a fourth person arrested in the case, Chester S. Wysocki, 36, of Dearborn, Mich., who has been held following his arrest in the Detroit suburb of Farmington.

Laughlin said arraignments for the three were pending. Crawford's body was found Dec. 11 on an isolated road in Licking County. He was kidnapped on Dec. 4 on his way to work as assistant branch manager for the National Bank of Detroit. The kidnapers had demanded $250,000 ransom.

The government also asked for tents, food, portable electric generators and earth-moving equipment to open roads.

The earthquake struck shortly after 3 a.m. Wednesday across 2,000 miles stretching from Mexico City south through the heart of Guatemala and into Honduras and El Salvador. The epicenter was located 30 miles southwest of Guatemala City between the villages of Siguintla and Ixcuintla.

Severe damage but no deaths were reported in Honduras near the Guatemalan border. There was less damage in El Salvador and very minor damage in some parts of southern Mexico.

Aid poured into Guatemala City through the international airport which remained open. Mexico sent a delegation of relief specialists and began an airlift of supplies.

The presidents of El Salvador and Honduras visited Guatemala City to coordinate aid from their countries. The Red Cross in Nicaragua, Costa Rica, El Salvador and Honduras sent convoys of trucks and ambulances with trained disaster teams and relief supplies. The American Red Cross sent a disaster specialist to assess what was needed.

The Guatemalan government declared a state of emergency and concentrated all public services in the defense department. Warnings were issued against looting, and a radio broadcast asked that no more bodies be brought to the morgue. "The morgue is full," it said.

Col. Ponce said the death toll in Guatemala City was estimated at more than 300, but other reports said it might reach 500 to 600.

The relief committee said the central areas of the capital, inhabited mostly by the poor, were hit hardest. Electrical service was restored to some areas Wednesday night, but drinking water for the 1.5 million residents was scarce.

People used sheets, blankets and plastic covers to build makeshift shelters in streets and ball parks.

Such hotels favored by tourists as the Camino Real, the Ritz Continental and the Conquistador were damaged. Guests were evacuated, and some had to spend the chilly night in the open.

State Senate Panel Sets Utility Formula Vote

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Senate committee neared a vote late Wednesday night on a major bill revamping Ohio's utility rate-making formula, but had to adjourn after a member whose vote was needed left the Statehouse.

Sen. Donald L. Woodland, D-16 Columbus, who would have provided the fifth vote on the nine-member panel, ducked out after explaining that he feared his vote on the measure would put him in a conflict of interest.

Woodland, 45, is a part-time salesman of Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., at a salary of $15,000 to $16,000 a year. Columbia is Ohio's largest supplier of natural gas, and would be affected directly by the measure.

Senate Ways and Means Chairman Mariogene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, indicated she was confident the fifth vote would be found when the committee convened this morning. Three other members were absent besides Woodland.

In other legislative developments, the House Ways and Means Committee recommended passage 15-3 of a widely amended bill that assertedly would give Ohioans about $70 million worth of property tax relief annually starting in 1977.

Ohio's property taxes produce about $1 billion in revenue a year.

The committee accepted without substantial change a subcommittee's redraft of what had been a voluminous measure when it first appeared on the floor Tuesday. The current bill was scheduled for floor vote next Tuesday over objections that it still is weighted against job-producing business and industry.

Although a number of major reforms were deleted from the proposal, it retains as its major thrust the

Government Crisis Ends In Italy

ROME (AP) — The Socialist party gave the go-ahead today to Premier-designate Aldo Moro to form a minority Christian Democratic cabinet, signaling the end of Italy's month-old government crisis.

Socialist leaders said in an announcement that they had agreed unanimously that the party would guarantee parliamentary abstention to a one-party government headed by Moro.

Moro can now form a cabinet, staving off the threat of a general election this spring which most observers believed would result in more gains for the Communist party.

The Socialists, who caused the crisis by withdrawing their support from Moro's previous cabinet, said they put aside their reluctance to help the Christian Democrats for the sake of the national interest at a time of serious economic difficulty.

By agreeing to abstain in the vote on government legislation in the Chamber of Deputies, they in effect insured that the Christian Democratic minority would have a majority in the reduced chamber.

Moro on Wednesday unveiled an emergency economic program which Socialist party leader Francesco de Martino said opened the way to agreement on a new government.

Designed to fight 7 per cent unemployment and 17 per cent inflation, the plan calls for tax increases on consumer goods, a 12-month wage freeze on high-income earners, a drive against tax evaders and worker absenteeism, higher utility bills and public transport charges and establishment of a ministerial working group to keep government departments within their budgets.

authority for county auditors to grant tax credits among real estate taxpayers when a county's revenues increase as a result of inflation. Industries and others hit by the state's tangible personal property tax would not enjoy the tax credits.

Before the Senate committee adjourned its deliberations on the utility rate measure, it voted 4-1 to reject an amendment by Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, R-14 Middletown. The amendment would have incorporated into the bill the same provisions utility lobbyists were able to insert into a similar bill now sidetracked in the House, late last month. Lukens was alone in support of his amendment.

Its major thrust was to insert a so-called "fair value" formula which Sen. Valiquette and others on the committee contended would function almost the same as an embattled RCN (reconstruction costs new) formula the bill seeks to repeal.

Under RCN, a utility is permitted to calculate its net worth when applying for a rate increase, on what it would cost to replace its plant and equipment at present day prices. The bill under consideration uses an original cost approach.

Find More Children Poor In U.S. Than 5 Years Ago

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although there are fewer children in America today than there were five years ago, a larger percentage of them are poor.

This is one of the conclusions about poverty, child health care and family structure documented in a new publication called "America's Children 1976."

The 90-page book, sponsored by the National Council of Organizations for Children and Youth, is based on federal Census Bureau material. It outlines how changing attitudes about women, a rising divorce rate and several years of economic uncertainty have affected the nation's 66 million children under 18.

Some of the findings are:

—During 1974, about one in six children in America lived in families whose income was below the official federal poverty level, $5,038 for a family of four. This compares with about one in seven children in 1970.

—Ten million children, about one in six, were being raised by a single parent in 1974. This compares with about one in seven children four years earlier.

—Although the infant mortality rate has dropped about 25 per cent since 1960, it is still twice as high for non-white children as white children.

—In 1975, about two out of five children had mothers in the labor force, a 12 per cent increase over 1970. The council, a coalition of 180 volunteer organizations concerned with children's issues, reported that because of a falling birth rate, the number of children under 18 decreased by 2.4 million, or 3.4 per cent, from 1970 to 1974.

The council also reported that in 1974, 10.1 million or 15.5 per cent of the nation's children lived below the official poverty line, up from 10.2 million or 14.9 per cent in 1970.

ROUNDTOWN

WITH all the robin sightings, guess what must be right around the corner . . . Well, anyway, approximately 40 robins have been seen at Circleville High School feeding on the berry trees outside the gymnasium.

Lawmakers on both sides of the dispute stressed that the state's utility consumers would not be assured of reductions in their utility bills either way. Supporters of the bill in its present form said they hope that at least the measure will prevent utilities from disguising profits and thereby put a check on unwarranted increases.

Woodland's exit before the night session started obviously miffed the chairman and Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron. They said Woodland had promised his committee vote just to send the bill along to the Rules Committee for assignment to a floor vote. Valiquette said "I should have listened" when cautioned earlier that she should not count on Woodland's vote.

Ocasek, a member of all Senate committees by virtue of his leadership post, could have added the needed vote. But he said he wanted to see "the regular procedures take place."

Besides Woodland, one other Democrat was absent—Sen. Douglas Applegate, D-30 Steubenville, who was reported in a hospital with a back ailment. Republicans Walter L. White, R-12 Lima, and William H. Mussey, R-14 Batavia, were the other absentees.

One children's advocate, Dr. Ken Keniston, said the most obvious reason that there is a larger percentage of poor children in the country today than there was a few years ago is because of the economic recession. "Everyone is worse off," he said.

A more subtle reason, said Keniston, who is chairman of the Carnegie Council on Children in New Haven, Conn., is that there are more government spending programs for older Americans who thus are moving out of poverty.

Malpractice Slowdown Finally Ends

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Physicians protesting huge increases in their malpractice insurance premiums have ended a 35-day slowdown and say they'll go back to work as usual starting today.

But the doctors warned that unless the state legislature acts quickly to resolve the problem, "next time everyone will go out."

Late Wednesday, The United Physicians of California, which spearheaded the protest, voted to end the slowdown even though all major issues in the controversy remain unresolved.

The slowdown, which affected 115 of the 234 members of the Hospital Council of Southern California, ended most elective surgery. Surgeons and many specialists declined to take new patients, and many stopped seeing all but postoperative patients.

The slowdown did not prevent anyone from obtaining necessary medical care because numerous cases were shunted to the eight county-operated hospitals, a move that cost taxpayers an estimated $1 million. Private hospitals estimated they lost $7 million despite the more than 20,000 workers laid off or placed on shorter work weeks.

The vote to end the slowdown came at an emotional four-hour meeting of 300 UPC representatives. The group said its membership includes 80 per cent of the state's 41,000 licensed physicians.

Women Angry Over Remarks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alejandro Orfila, secretary-general of the Organization of American States, has been asked by 150 women who work for the OAS for an explanation of what they call his "offensive and degrading" remarks on the women's movement.

The OAS employs more than 600 women from the United States and Latin America, representing some 40 per cent of its staff.

In a recent interview with the Washington Post, Orfila said, "The women's movement amuses me but it is ridiculous. They will be losing more than they are gaining if they got the so-called equality...."

The women sent the letter to Orfila on Wednesday.

The Dow had risen to its highest close since October 1973 on Wednesday, leading to some profit taking. Brokers noted some bearish sentiment over recent increases in short-term interest rates and the Federal Reserve's slight lowering of its target growth rate for the money supply.

AT&T was the most active issue, falling 3/4 to 54 1/2, the trading price for a block of 127,300 shares. The company said Wednesday its calendar 1975 earnings were down after three years of growth.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks dipped .18 to 54.06. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index added .44 to 98.76.

Big Board volume totaled 15.67 million hares after two hours of trading, down from Wednesday's 16.72 million.

Big Power Parks To Affect Weather?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposed giant clusters of power plants may produce drastic changes in nearby weather, causing thunderstorms, whirlwinds, fog and increased rainfall, scientists say.

Such energy centers would dissipate great amounts of waste heat into the atmosphere that could result in a variety of local weather changes, they say.

Power parks would be installations generating 10 to 50 billion watts of electricity. The maximum amount of power currently generated from a single site is about three billion watts.

Government and private energy planners have proposed power parks as a way of satisfying the nation's energy needs. Several potential sites are being studied, including one on the Mississippi River north of Baton Rouge, La., and another in Washington state on the Columbia River on the Hanford atomic reservation.

The scientists at the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's Air Resources Laboratory in Oak Ridge, Tenn., used the known effects of large natural and manmade heat sources on weather to estimate what could happen at such power parks.

Drs. Steven R. Hanna and Franklin A. Gifford said in a paper published in the Bulletin of the American Meteorological Society that power parks would discharge waste heat energy at about the same rate a thunderstorm generates energy.

The meteorologists said waste heat probably would be discharged through some type of cooling towers which would send plumes of heat into the air to interact with existing weather.

Clouds tend to form over large sources of heat, such as active volcanos, large brush fires and even the burning of big rocket engines. Heat release of the magnitude expected from power parks could generate thunderstorms or at least "trigger" the natural storm mechanism in areas where thunderstorms already are frequent, the researchers said.

"On days when the atmosphere is conditionally unstable and conducive to large cloud development, the preferred location for cloud and thunderstorm development will in all likelihood be over the power center," the researchers said.

Rising warm air plumes also draw surrounding air toward them, concentrating and intensifying any slight natural spin. Whirlwinds, waterspouts and tornadoes are thought to form this way, they said.

If water-filled cooling towers are used, the study said, this could produce ground fog frequently reaching more than 50 miles from the power park. This increased moisture also would increase local rainfall more than a tenth of an inch per year, it said.

Thieves Take 8 CB Radios In Spree

Eight citizen band radios were taken by thieves, including seven from vehicles parked in the Elsea Mobile Home Village, between 5 p.m. Wednesday and 9:30 a.m. today.

A wire instrument was used in all incidents to gain entry to the vehicles, which, according to all owners, were locked.

Those reporting thefts of their CB's to the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department included, Kenneth K. Klinebriell, 203 Villa Dr., radio valued at $120; Robert Chester, 130 Villa Dr., radio valued at $180; Thurman Tolliver, 180 Villa Dr., two radios and twin antennas valued at $321.40; Harold A. Strawser, 138 Villa Dr., radio valued at $169.95; Lew Canepari, 222 Villa Dr., radio valued at $205 and Mike Alkire, 29 Alma St., radio valued at $118.25.

R. Bruce Liston, 48 McCullough, reported that during that same spree, thieves took various tools and a tool box from his truck parked at his residence.

Value of the tools was set at $210. Kenneth J. Tavella of Carroll, reported to Sheriff's Deputies that thieves took a CB radio and scanner from his truck Wednesday night parked at the L-K parking lot.

Thieves broke a window to gain access to the radios. Loss was set at $444.25.

John Hooks, Route 1, New Holland, told authorities that thieves took three red fox and six coon furs from a drying house sometime between 5:30-7:30 p.m. Wednesday. Value of the furs was set at $231.

3 Injured In Two Accidents

Twenty-five-year-old Stephen M. Swank, 2070 Ottawa Drive, was referred to a physician for lacerations to the forehead sustained in a single-car accident, 2:20 a.m. today.

Swank was southbound on Pickaway Street when he failed to stop for a stop sign at Crites Road, continued through the intersection and came to rest in a ditch.

According to the report taken by Deputy James Deal, Swank stated his auto slid on the ice-covered street.

Two persons were treated and released at Berger Hospital for injuries received in a single-car wreck occurring 6:29 a.m. today on State Route 104.

Linda J. Miller, 27, Chillicothe, was traveling north on 104 when she lost control of her auto after rounding a curve.

The auto traveled off the road and struck a tree head-on.

Ms. Miller was treated for lacerations to the left eye and abrasions and contusions to the right leg and minor head injuries.

A passenger, Pamela J. Woods, 31, Route 2, was treated for a laceration to the chin, abrasions to both elbows and legs and minor head injuries.

Police Issue Monthly Report

Thirteen people were injured in eight traffic accidents investigated by Circleville Police during the month of January.

There were 53 accidents in the city during the month, with over half occurring between the hours of 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. Fridays were the worst days, accident-wise, police said.

Most frequent violations were failure to yield the right of way and failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead.

Out of the 53 accidents investigated, officers noted that seat belts were used in only 12.

Officers were dispatched on 341 calls during the month and filed 182 reports. They filed 30 theft reports and 22 vandalism reports. The remainder were domestic disturbances, assaults, breaking and enterings, and other miscellaneous reports.

Rain Finally Brings Relief From Drought In California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It got so dry even the cactus started puckering, but California is finally getting some miserable weather and everyone — well almost everyone — is thankful.

First some sprinkles of rain came up from Mexico's Baja California, leaving a light dusting of moisture to officially end Southern California's worst dry spell in 72 years.

Then what the weather people termed a "deepening upper level cold with a low pressure system" brought thunderstorms, snow and freezing temperatures up and down the state Wednesday.

It was Los Angeles' first rain since Dec. 12 and ended the area's driest stretch since 1903-4.

By nightfall Wednesday, only .13 of an inch had fallen in downtown Los Angeles. Until that drizzle hit the dust, however, the area had seen only .55 inches since July 1 — compared with .57 inches in the century's worst local dry spell.

But the drought isn't dead yet. The total of .72 inches of precipitation is still more than seven inches less than Los Angeles' seasonal average of 8.06 inches.

South Lake Tahoe was turned white from the snow and temperatures fell to 16 above, chilly for that part of the country. The snow fell at elevations as low as 1,000 feet, the National Weather Service said, and winds to 50 miles an hour prompted travelers' warnings for blowing snow in the mountains and blasting sand in the deserts.

When a thunderstorm struck Fresno, it was the first significant rainfall since November for the crop-heavy San Joaquin Valley.

State officials have placed crop and livestock losses at more than $30 million and economists predicted higher food prices because of the drought which forced some counties to seek disaster aid.

The unseasonable spring-like dry spell had even fooled the grapevines in California's Napa and Sonoma wine country, where growers wanting to prune the vines were surprised to see them blooming three months ahead of schedule.

Cattlemen and farmers weren't the only ones hurt by the sunny weather. At some ski resorts, rocks poked through a vanishing snowpack that was the lowest on record in the Sierra Nevada.

The storm brought up to a foot and a half of snow to some mountain areas, with another half-foot forecast for the area today.

San Diego, traditionally one of California's sunniest coastal areas, had almost a half-inch of rain Tuesday and Wednesday, breaking a drought of 43 days.

George Calzadar, a weather service forecaster, said almost the entire state was covered by clouds, with a satellite picture showing only the northern-most area clear.

The rain in Southern California was expected to last through Friday at least, Calzadar said. But not everyone was happy with the rain.

"We're already receiving calls from people asking when the rain is going to stop," forecaster Don Halverson said. "We just can't win."

Appeals Court Affirms Decision

In a decision handed down recently by the Fourth District Court of Appeals, the trial court's decision was affirmed in the John W. Shelton case against Herbert D. and Edna L. Tatso.

The original action was a money suit tried to a jury in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court. The jury found nothing due either the plaintiff or the defendant.

Gordon Gray, presiding judge, and Homer Abele, justice, concurred on the decision and Earl Stephenson dissented.

Local attorney Richard W. Penn represented the plaintiff in the action.

Vo School Offers Horticulture

The Horticulture Department at the Pickaway-Ross Vocational Center will be offering a special course in the raising of flower and garden bedding plants, for adults in the community. While the cold temperatures, ice, and snow prevents thoughts of gardening in the minds of most people, the time is near for sowing the seeds that will develop into the small tomato, cabbage, and petunia plants to be transplanted this spring.

Course topics will include soil mixtures, watering techniques, sowing, transplanting seedlings, fertilizing and other related topics. Class members will have several small flats of plants to take home for planting in their home flower beds or gardens at the completion of the class.

The course will begin Feb. 24, and will be held each Tuesday night from 6 - 8 p.m. for eight weeks. Cost of the course is $14. The class will be limited to the first 15 people enrolling. Interested persons should enroll by Feb. 13. Further questions can be answered by calling the Adult Education office at the vocational center.

leaving a light dusting of moisture to officially end Southern California's worst dry spell in 72 years.

Then what the weather people termed a "deepening upper level cold with a low pressure system" brought thunderstorms, snow and freezing temperatures up and down the state Wednesday.

It was Los Angeles' first rain since Dec. 12 and ended the area's driest stretch since 1903-4.

By nightfall Wednesday, only .13 of an inch had fallen in downtown Los Angeles. Until that drizzle hit the dust, however, the area had seen only .59 inches since July 1 — compared with 57 inches in the century's worst local dry spell.

But the drought isn't dead yet. The total of .72 inches of precipitation is still more than seven inches less than Los Angeles' seasonal average of 8.06 inches.

South Lake Tahoe was turned white from the snow and temperatures fell to 16 above, chilly for that part of the country. The snow fell at elevations as low as 1,000 feet, the National Weather Service said, and winds to 50 miles an hour prompted travelers' warnings for blowing snow in the mountains and blasting sand in the deserts.

When a thunderstorm struck Fresno, it was the first significant rainfall since November for the crop-heavy San Joaquin Valley.

State officials have placed crop and livestock losses at more than $30 million and economists predicted higher food prices because of the drought which forced some counties to seek disaster aid.

The unseasonable spring-like dry spell had even fooled the grapevines in California's Napa and Sonoma wine country, where growers wanting to prune the vines were surprised to see them blooming three months ahead of schedule.

Cattlemen and farmers weren't the only ones hurt by the sunny weather. At some ski resorts, rocks poked through a vanishing snowpack that was the lowest on record in the Sierra Nevada.

The storm brought up to a foot and a half of snow to some mountain areas, with another half-foot forecast for the area today.

San Diego, traditionally one of California's sunniest coastal areas, had almost a half-inch of rain Tuesday and Wednesday, breaking a drought of 43 days.

George Calzadar, a weather service forecaster, said almost the entire state was covered by clouds, with a satellite picture showing only the northern-most area clear.

The rain in Southern California was expected to last through Friday at least, Calzadar said. But not everyone was happy with the rain.

"We're already receiving calls from people asking when the rain is going to stop," forecaster Don Halverson said. "We just can't win."

Wesleyan Bible Academy Opens In Pickaway County

By BOB BENSONHAVER
Herald Staff Writer

With the growing controversies in the public school systems with forced busing, elimination of prayer and flag allegiance, dress codes and modern theories in the educational process, the growth of fundamental Christian Elementary and High Schools has been noticeably increasing.

And Ohio and Pickaway County are no exceptions. Ohio has been in past decades and today, leads the nation in fundamental or conservative Christian High Schools and liberal arts colleges.

The recent rally held at the Ohio State Capital Building has led to the increased support and initiation of Christian oriented schools.

One such school has been started in the former Carriage House Dining Club, located on U.S. Route 23, north of South Bloomfield, called the Wesleyan Bible Academy.

Founded by the Rev. Ronald White, the school was started in the basement of the Wesleyan Bible Holiness Church of Columbus in September of 1975.

Rev. White saw the need to expand facilities and through investigation found the empty building on Route 23.

White is the administrator-founder of the school. The Rev. Robert Derr, a graduate of North Western University and retired public school teacher in science and social studies, is the supervisor for the Bible Academy.

Mrs. Robert Derr, also with a college education, is teaching first and second students. Three other licensed teachers have been hired for part-time teaching.

The school presently enrolls 25 students. While most students are from Franklin County, approximately seven are from Pickaway County. And Rev. White expects more from Pickaway County next year.

The Academy uses the ACE (Accelerated Christian Education) curriculum, with publishing headquarters based in Garland, Tex.

Perspectives On Aging Seminar Held

The first seminar Perspectives On Aging was held at the Trinity Lutheran Church Feb. 3.

Those attending were personnel of nursing homes, Welfare Department, Pickaway County Community Action, Senior Center, Information and Referral, Orient State Inst., pastors, and concerned citizens.

The guest speakers were Dr. Mary Ann Mulligan, Ohio Dominican College; Mrs. Carol Meade, R.N., M.S., Columbus Technical Institute; Mrs. Jean P. Jones, R.D., Nutrition, Involving Columbus Elderly; Dr. Edna Menka, Ohio State University School of Nursing; and David Guldin, Department of Sociology, College of Wooster.

The seminar was on the Perspectives On Aging learning to understand and dealing with the problems of aging.

On February 17, the second seminar will be held at the Trinity Lutheran Church, 135 E. Mound St. The public is welcome to attend.

There is no admission fee. Pre-registration may be completed by contacting Information and Referral, Sharon Eyerman, 474-1666.

ACE services school textbooks and studies for over 1000 such schools in the United States.

"While the Academy meets state standards in curriculum, teachers, and building, the state," says White, "is thinking of setting new minimum standards for the school systems." That according to White will occur sometime during February.

White also adds that they have also been willing to cooperate with the public school systems, but apparently they weren't doing the job, and so Christian-oriented schools have been organized.

At the Wesleyan Academy, the day begins at 9:15 a.m. with devotions and ends at 3:30 p.m. with prayer. The students must meet the required 180-day attendance.

The students are learning on the accelerated program which permits them to work at their own pace with assistance from the teacher or supervisor when it is urgently needed.

The Academy teaches the required courses such as English, math, languages, biology, social studies, science and makes available courses of study in the Bible.

"We just want to keep God in their lives," says Derr. "We're not cramming religion down their (students) throats, but making it available."

The school holds a chapel service on Thursday with special speakers coming to the school or Rev. White giving a small talk.

The school is not denominationally owned. It is open to any church or non-church students.

The ACE curriculum teaches Christian aspects and principles. It does not teach a basic doctrine but teaches through the scripture.

The 30-acres provides space for future expansion, according to White.

CONFERENCE — What might be a different scene from some schools, Mrs. Robert Derr, a teacher at the Academy, sits and chats with a student. The Columbus student has completed her studies for the day and talks over a few necessary items with this teacher.

A work-building is available within steps of the school and authorities hope to include wood and metal classes to the curriculum.

Summer camps and classes could also be held at the facility.

To attend the Academy, a tuition of $315 is required for one year. That includes all materials except pencils. If a family has a second and third child the tuition is less.

These schools, according to some government authorities, could be the answer to some of the problems which have stemmed in public schools, as more and more parents are sending their children to the Christian-oriented schools.

CHECKING CURRICULUM — The Rev. Ronald White, right, founder-administrator of the Wesleyan Bible Academy looks over curriculum information with the Rev. Robert Derr, left, supervisor.

A Page Of Opinion

Politics And Population

The politicians are playing politics with the population of Ohio once again.

Gov. James Rhodes has started action to reapportion the state's political districts in an attempt to replace Democrats with Republicans in the state assembly.

Despite court orders at various times and in various states to keep boundaries as clean as possible, many of the efforts, both Democrats and Republican have a heavy flavor of gerrymandering, with oddly-shaped districts designed to keep one or the other of the political parties in the saddle.

These tactics, by whichever political party is in power at the time, have created splits in the middle of counties, townships and cities, and should be redrawn.

However, we believe that neither political party should do the remapping but rather that it should be done by some type of nonpolitical agency with the goal of keeping districts in some semblance of agreement with natural political boundaries.

Loving Voice Can Cure

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Loneliness can be a killer. Especially for older people who have lost the strength and the incentive to reach out and touch the frantic, preoccupied world...

In 20,000 nursing homes across the country, studies show, at least 35 per cent of the aged never receive visitors, or letters, or even phone calls.

Why? Because middle-aged friends and relatives are depressed by nursing homes, and the young are often even terrified of them. However fine and functional the facility, a nursing home presents a psychological barrier to many people outside its doors. When an elderly relative is placed in a home, a sense of sadness and guilt almost always overcomes those who place him there. Since sadness and guilt are painful to the fully functioning American, the tendency is to get busy with the business of trying to forget: let's get on with our lives, kids, after all mother's in good hands.

Rex Taylor is a man who is out to change that attitude, and to lick loneliness among the aged and the infirm. A big order, but then, Rex is a big man on humanitarianism. He starts national crusades to make people feel better with the same exuberant joy that advertising men start multi-million-dollar campaigns to sell perfume.

The difference is that Taylor operates from love and human family experiences, rather than a corporate base...

When his second daughter was born retarded, and had to be institutionalized, Rex initiated "Operation Sunshine," persuading professional artists to paint happy murals on the walls of more than 150 children's hospitals and homes around the country — free.

When his cousin went blind, Rex created a national public service campaign, "The Joy of Seeing," which won the top award of the Public Relations Society of America last year. His cousin's doctors had told him that half of all blindness could have been prevented with regular eye tests, and Taylor simply launched a campaign to teach children and parents — not the old frightening concept that blindness is terrible, but the Taylor-made optimistic concept that seeing is beautiful.

When his wife, Susan, was stricken with multiple sclerosis and doomed to life in a wheelchair, Rex became deeply involved in the morale problem of the handicapped. The result was his famous "Wheelchair Decor" contest in which the crippled and ill were challenged to convert their "chrome cages" into vehicles of beauty and whimsy. Many hundreds of Americans were enlisted and uplifted, and the winners feted at the White House.

And now, this spring, another family tragedy has led Rex to take up the banner for the aged in nursing homes!

"Shortly before Christmas of 1974," says Rex, "I got a simple cassette tape from my Mother, who is 85 and quite senile in a nursing home. It was the most amazing, lovely present. The home has an ingenious, creative 'activity director,' and there was her voice, interviewing my Mother. She got her to describe her birthday party in the home, and tell about the pottery she was making, and, finally, to wish each of us in the family a Merry Christmas.

"We're a sentimental family, as you know, and we were all crying because it was so sweet and lovely. My first reaction was thank God for my Mother, and my second was thank God for the nursing home." His third, and best, reaction was to go out the next day and buy an inexpensive tape recorder and cut a cassette to send back to his Mom. She plays it — and the ones that have followed — on lonely days.

In the 13 months since, Rex has been working on his newest crusade: "Voice-a-Gram — The Sound of Love." The heart of the program, of course, is an exchange of tape-recorded messages between nursing home residents and their families. Members of the family are requested to flip the cassette and record a return message

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

In case the people of Circleville are unaware, there is a bill before the president now called the Child and Family Service Act of 1975. To hear its title is very deceitful. What started out to be a good thing, to cut down on child abuse, has turned into what could be a nightmare for America.

As I understand it, if this bill passes, I won't have the right to correct my children in my home if they think they are being corrected unjustly. Show me the child who is thrilled with the idea of correction. If I do correct them and they think it is unjust they can report me and be removed from the home. Also if the child does not choose to go to church he doesn't have to and can not be made to go. I will not be allowed to tell him about God unless he wants to listen. Otherwise he can complain to the authorities and be removed. Wake up, Circleville, wake up America. We are about to sit in the ruins of a civilization that once was. This country was founded on our forefathers belief in God and can not continue to be free with laws such as this being passed.

Next step is state controlled churches and that is communism. If you wish to state your opinion against such trash getting attention from our government speak up. Write a letter. No, write five letters, one to each of the below addresses:

Sen John Glenn, 204 Russell Office Bldg., Washington, D. C. 20510; Congressman Samuel L. Devine,

Office 2206, Rayburn House Office Bldg., Washington, D. C. 20515; House Ways and Means Committee, House Office Bldg., 1102 Longworth, Washington, D. C. 20510; Sen. Robert Taft Jr., Office 405, Russell Office Bldg., Washington, D. C. 20510; Congressman Chalmers P. Wylie, office 2447, Rayburn House Office Bldg., Washington, D. C. 20515.

WILMA J. METS

Dear Editor:

During the Sunday morning worship service at Williamsport United Methodist Church, there was a brief discussion on the Child Family Service Act which is HB2066 and SB26 as listed in the Congressional Record on page 44138.

In brief, this bill would deprive parents and children of having a parent-child relationship and parents from being parents other than bringing the child into the world. The bill further states, "We recognize that not parental but communist forms of upbringing have an unquestionable superiority over all other forms. Furthermore, there is serious question that maybe we cannot trust the family to prepare young children in this country for this new kind of world which is emerging." Can you believe such idiocy? It truly frightens me and I hope it does everyone else reading this. I hope it stirs each of you to action such as writing to your senators who are John Glenn, Senator — Room 204, Russell Senate Office Bldg., Washington D. C. 20510 and Robert Taft, Jr. Senator — Room 405 Russell Senate Office Bldg., Washington D. C. 20510 or your U.S. Representative: Congress of U.S. House of Representatives Att: William H. Harsha, Washington, D. C. 20510 or you can write: Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, Suite 4230, Dirksen Office Building, Washington D. C. Attention Senator Walter Mondale. And why not send a letter to President Gerald Ford letting him know how you feel? After all it will be on his desk to either pass or veto if it gets through the house and senate and remember it passed both of these places in 1971 but thank God for then President Richard Nixon because he vetoed it.

There will be a petition available at the United Methodist Church to be signed by those who wish to do so this coming Sunday. Time is of the essence since this bill is to be reviewed again in February. Please get your letters in the mail just as soon as possible. Or sign the petition!

Yours truly,
EILEEN EASTERDAY

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Feb. 5, the 36th day of 1976. There are 330 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1917, Mexico became a federated republic of 28 states.

On this date — In 1783, Sweden recognized the independence of the United States.

In 1790, the first lawyers were admitted to practice before the U.S. Supreme Court.

In 1937, a bitter controversy began when President Franklin Roosevelt proposed adding six new justices to the Supreme Court.

In 1962, President Charles de Gaulle of France called for independence for Algeria.

In 1971, U.S. Apollo 14 astronauts Alan Shepard and Edgar Mitchell landed on the moon.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson flew to Hawaii for talks on the Vietnam war with American and Vietnamese officials.

Five years ago: Fog and rain were slowing an American and South Vietnamese military campaign in northern South Vietnam.

One year ago: President Ford urged Congress to reconsider its cutoff of military aid to Turkey.

Today's birthdays: New York Times publisher Arthur Sulzberger is 50. Baseball's all-time homerun king Hank Aaron is 42.

Thought for today: If a man owns land, the land owns him. — Ralph Waldo Emerson, American writer, 1803-1882.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, early in the American Revolution, the British made an agreement with the reigning count in Hanau, Germany, to furnish 660 infantrymen for service in the American colonies.

Nursing Home Hearing Rule Being Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's welfare department would have to conduct public hearings before adopting regulations that affect nursing homes and similar businesses under a bill approved 26-4 by the Senate on Tuesday.

The sponsor, Sen. Donald J. Pease, D-13 Oberlin, said the bill was prompted by complaints from nursing homes and others affected by department rules that they are not given time to prepare for arbitrarily adopted regulations.

His measure, which now goes to the House, requires, with certain exceptions, that the department give advance notice and conduct public hearings as other agencies are required to do under the Administrative Procedures Act.

In other action Tuesday, the Senate approved a House measure that extends authority to sell liquor on Sundays to holders of D-7 liquor permits—those issued in resort areas for seasonal periods of 120 days.

The bill got just enough votes to pass. The vote was 17-13 in the 33-member Senate with 17 needed.

Sen. Jerome P. Stano, D-24 Parma, said he voted against it because in his view, it allows liquor permit holders in resort areas to sell liquor on Sunday without approval of voters, as required elsewhere.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I recently learned that I have a "horseshoe" kidney. I have been told that I can live a normal life with this condition, yet I would feel better if I got some added assurance about this.

Mr. J.D., Neb.

Dear Mr. D.:

The horseshoe shape of your kidneys does not suggest that there is any malfunction of this important organ. Unusual conditions of the entire urinary tract, from the kidneys to the bladder, are very common. Because of some quirk in development, these malformations occur.

It is estimated that this conditions happens in about one out of every 500 people.

Normally, two individual kidneys lie deep inside the abdomen. They are separate and distinct. A "horseshoe" kidney simply means that the lower ends of the kidneys are fused together, giving it this distinctive shape.

In the absence of any disease, there is no reason why this anatomical variation should in any way alter your health, your productivity or your longevity.

Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Many wise men have correctly observed that it isn't only the facts that are important in assessing the conditions of an economy but also the way in which the facts are interpreted. Up and down can be good or bad, you see, depending upon moods and attitudes that even economists with an understanding of politics and a degree in psychology sometime cannot properly evaluate.

Those who engage in stock market activities are aware of this phenomenon, even if they don't understand it. They have seen bleak despair magically evolved into uproarious enthusiasm while the facts remain little changed.

In one week, for example, the market might be weak, and commentators grimly described the economic events that justify a low estimate of the future. Gloom reinforces itself by being an ingredient of gloomy predictions.

A week goes by. The economic statistics change perhaps, but not totally. The attitude of investors might, however. Now, for reasons that lie in the study of mass psychology, the low prices represent buying opportunities.

In the good old American tradition of seeing in every obstacle a challenge, in every misfortune an opportunity, you can also find a bright side to almost every dark statistic.

Realize this and you understand one of the dynamics of economic change, as well as the possible irrationality of some markets at certain times, and the explanation of why economists can gather supporting data for almost any position under the sun.

Is a lack of consumer confidence all bad? You might believe it is, because that has been the attitude now for many, many months. Consumer spending, we are told, is essential to economic recovery.

True perhaps, but consider the advantages of low confidence: It causes people to build up their savings accounts; it reduces demand and therefore tends to lower prices; it helps allocate funds for essential rather than frivolous projects.

Can you deny that these are goals not to be sought? You'd have a difficult argument if you sought to prove your point. The soundest observation is that the desirability of confidence depends on the total economic environment.

Is it possible that even recession and inflation have their uses? Of course it is. Recessions can be viewed as corrective. Generally speaking, they aren't desirable, but they do serve to reduce inflation, make industry more efficient, increase worker produc-

the weather by how his sinuses or his joints feel. How is this explained?

Mrs. G.E., Pa.

Dear Mrs. E.: Many sophisticated physicians, for a long time, have seemed to "close their eyes" to the truth that some people can predict weather by their sinuses, by pains in the joints, muscle aches, and even allergies.

I believe that all of us in the practice of medicine now recognize that weather does affect the physical and psychological well-being of many people.

It is an unexplained paradox that some people with sinus infections actually feel better in bad weather. One would expect the reverse. It is for this very reason that I always suggest that before anyone makes a move to another climate he should first test it out for a reasonable length of time.

Many sufferers from asthma, sinus infection and arthritis have prematurely sold their houses and their businesses, only to find that the climatic Utopia they sought was a physical disappointment.

inflation. The same observation applies to inflation. It's to be avoided, but if it does occur it eventually serves to curb the excesses of individuals and governments that attempt to live beyond their means.

How then do you interpret this economic world? By the seat of your pants or wherever it is you keep your wallet. Economic interpretation for most Americans emanates from the condition of their wallets. The truth is there.

They'll Do It Every Time

A Page Of Opinion

Politics And Population

The politicians are playing politics with the population of Ohio once again.

Gov. James Rhodes has started action to reapportion the state's political districts in an attempt to replace Democrats with Republicans in the state assembly.

Despite court orders at various times and in various states to keep boundaries as clean as possible, many of the efforts, both Democrats and Republican have a heavy flavor of gerrymandering, with oddly-shaped districts designed to keep one or the other of the political parties in the saddle.

These tactics, by whichever political party is in power at the time, have created splits in the middle of counties, townships and cities, and should be redrawn.

However, we believe that neither political party should do the remapping but rather that it should be done by some type of nonpolitical agency with the goal of keeping districts in some semblance of agreement with natural political boundaries.

Loving Voice Can Cure

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Loneliness can be a killer. Especially for older people who have lost the strength and the incentive to reach out and touch the frantic, preoccupied world...

In 20,000 nursing homes across the country, studies show, at least 35 per cent of the aged never receive visitors, or letters, or even phone calls.

Why? Because middle-aged friends and relatives are depressed by nursing homes, and the young are often even terrified of them. However fine and functional the facility, a nursing home presents a psychological barrier to many people outside its doors. When an elderly relative is placed in a home, a sense of sadness and guilt almost always overcomes those who place him there. Since sadness and guilt are painful to the fully functioning American, the tendency is to get busy with the business of trying to forget: let's get on with our lives, kids, after all mother's in good hands.

Rex Taylor is a man who is out to change that attitude, and to lick loneliness among the aged and the infirm. A big order, but then, Rex is a big man on humanitarianism. He starts national crusades to make people feel better with the same exuberant joy that advertising men start multi-million-dollar campaigns to sell perfume.

The difference is that Taylor operates from love and human family experiences, rather than a corporate base...

When his second daughter was born retarded, and had to be institutionalized, Rex initiated "Operation Sunshine," persuading professional artists to paint happy murals on the walls of more than 150 children's hospitals and homes around the country — free.

When his cousin went blind, Rex created a national public service campaign, "The Joy of Seeing," which won the top award of the Public Relations Society of America last year. His cousin's doctors had told him that half of all blindness could have been prevented with regular eye tests, and Taylor simply launched a campaign to teach children and parents — not the old frightening concept that blindness is terrible, but the Taylor-made optimistic concept that seeing is beautiful.

When his wife, Susan, was stricken with multiple sclerosis and doomed to life in a wheelchair, Rex became deeply involved in the morale problem of the handicapped. The result was his famous "Wheelchair Decor" contest in which the crippled and ill were challenged to convert their "chrome cages" into vehicles of beauty and whimsy. Many hundreds of Americans were enlisted and uplifted, and the winners feted at the White House.

And now, this spring, another family tragedy has led Rex to take up the banner for the aged in nursing homes!

"Shortly before Christmas of 1974," says Rex, "I got a simple cassette tape from my Mother, who is 85 and quite senile in a nursing home. It was the most amazing, lovely present. The home has an ingenious, creative 'activity director,' and there was her voice, interviewing my Mother. She got her to describe her birthday party in the home, and tell about the pottery she was making, and, finally, to wish each of us in the family a Merry Christmas.

"We're a sentimental family, as you know, and we were all crying because it was so sweet and lovely. My first reaction was thank God for my Mother, and my second was thank God for the nursing home." His third, and best, reaction was to go out the next day and buy an inexpensive tape recorder and cut a cassette to send back to his Mom. She plays it — and the ones that have followed — on lonely days.

In the 13 months since, Rex has been working on his newest crusade: "Voice-a-Gram — The Sound of Love." The heart of the program, of course, is an exchange of tape-recorded messages between nursing home residents and their families. Members of the family are requested to flip the cassette and record a return message to the resident. Over the months and years, the elderly can collect a priceless tape library of familiar voices, to give them a new and revitalizing Rx for loneliness — a psychological condition that too often kicks off physical diseases.

Funded by the Gene Tunney-Mary Lauder Tunney Foundation, and supported by corporations who will contribute cassettes and recorders to nursing homes across the nation, "Voice-a-Gram" will kick off in May, in time for Mother's Day. Information on the project is being distributed to their members by such agencies as the Administration for the Aging; Department of Health, Education and Welfare; American Association of Retired Persons and American Health Care Association.

"It doesn't cost a penny to be loving, you know," says Rex Taylor with his billion-dollar-lick-the-world's-problems smile. "This is a movement where everyone wins. If you join it, you win; if you back it, you win; even if you just think about, you could win a little understanding of what it's like to be old and alone..."

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

In case the people of Circleville are unaware, there is a bill before the president now called the Child and Family Service Act of 1975. To hear its title is very deceitful. What started out to be a good thing, to cut down on child abuse, has turned into what could be a nightmare for America.

As I understand it, if this bill passes, I won't have the right to correct my children in my home if they think they are being corrected unjustly. Show me the child who is thrilled with the idea of correction. If I do correct them and they think it is unjust they can report me and be removed from the home. Also if the child does not choose to go to church he doesn't have to and can not be made to go. I will not be allowed to tell him about God unless he wants to listen. Otherwise he can complain to the authorities and be removed. Wake up, Circleville, wake up America. We are about to sit in the ruins of a civilization that once was. This country was founded on our forefathers belief in God and can not continue to be free with laws such as this being passed.

Next step is state controlled churches and that is communism. If you wish to state your opinion against such trash getting attention from our government speak up. Write a letter. No, write five letters, one to each of the below addresses:

Sen John Glenn, 204 Russell Office Bldg., Washington, D. C. 20510; Congressman Samuel L. Devine,

Office 2206, Rayburn House Office Bldg., Washington, D. C. 20515; House Ways and Means Committee, House Office Bldg., 1102 Longworth, Washington, D. C. 20510; Sen. Dear Editor:

During the Sunday morning worship service at Williamsport United Methodist Church, there was a brief discussion on the Child Family Service Act which is HB2066 and SB26 as listed in the Congressional Record on page 44138.

In brief, this bill would deprive parents and children of having a parent-child relationship and parents from being parents other than bringing the child into the world. The bill further states, "We recognize that not parental but communist forms of upbringing have an unquestionable superiority over all other forms. Furthermore, there is serious question that maybe we cannot trust the family to prepare young children in this country for this new kind of world which is emerging." Can you believe such idiocy? It truly frightens me and I hope it does everyone else reading this. I hope it stirs each of you to action such as writing to your senators who are John Glenn, Senator — Room 204, Russell Senate Office Bldg., Washington D. C. 20510 and Robert Taft, Jr. Senator — Room 405 Russell Senate Office Bldg., Washington D. C. 20510 or your U.S. Representative: Congress of U.S. House of Representatives Att: William H. Harsha, Washington, D. C. 20510 or you can write: Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, Suite 4230, Dirksen Office Building, Washington D. C. Attention Senator Walter Mondale.

And why not send a letter to President Gerald Ford letting him know how you feel? After all it will be on his desk to either pass or veto if it gets through the house and senate and remember it passed both of these places in 1971 but thank God for then President Richard Nixon because he vetoed it.

There will be a petition available at the United Methodist Church to be signed by those who wish to do so this coming Sunday. Time is of the essence since this bill is to be reviewed again in February. Please get your letters in the mail just as soon as possible. Or sign the petition!

Yours truly,
EILEEN EASTERDAY

Today is Thursday, Feb. 5, the 36th day of 1976. There are 330 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1917, Mexico became a federated republic of 28 states.

On this date — In 1783, Sweden recognized the independence of the United States.

In 1790, the first lawyers were admitted to practice before the U.S. Supreme Court.

In 1937, a bitter controversy began when President Franklin Roosevelt proposed adding six new justices to the Supreme Court.

In 1962, President Charles de Gaulle of France called for independence for Algeria.

In 1971, U.S. Apollo 14 astronauts Alan Shepard and Edgar Mitchell landed on the moon.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson flew to Hawaii for talks on the Vietnam war with American and Vietnamese officials.

Five years ago: Fog and rain were slowing an American and South Vietnamese military campaign in northern South Vietnam.

One year ago: President Ford urged Congress to reconsider its cutoff of military aid to Turkey.

Today's birthdays: New York Times publisher Arthur Sulzberger is 50. Baseball's all-time homerun king Hank Aaron is 42.

Thought for today: If a man owns land, the land owns him. — Ralph Waldo Emerson, American writer, 1803-1882.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, early in the American Revolution, the British made an agreement with the reigning count in Hanau, Germany, to furnish 660 infantrymen for service in the American colonies.

Nursing Home Hearing Rule Being Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's welfare department would have to conduct public hearings before adopting regulations that affect nursing homes and similar businesses under a bill approved 26-4 by the Senate on Tuesday.

The sponsor, Sen. Donald J. Pease, D-13 Oberlin, said the bill was prompted by complaints from nursing homes and others affected by department rules that they are not given time to prepare for arbitrarily adopted regulations.

His measure, which now goes to the House, requires, with certain exceptions, that the department give advance notice and conduct public hearings as other agencies are required to do under the Administrative Procedures Act.

In other action Tuesday, the Senate approved a House measure that extends authority to sell liquor on Sundays to holders of D-7 liquor permits — those issued in resort areas for seasonal periods of 120 days.

The bill got just enough votes to pass. The vote was 17-13 in the 33-member Senate with 17 needed.

Sen. Jerome P. Stano, D-24 Parma, said he voted against it because in his view, it allows liquor permit holders in resort areas to sell liquor on Sunday without approval of voters, as required elsewhere.

Hearing Problems Fall On Deaf Ears

DEAR ABBY: I wonder how many people have my problem. I have suffered a 75 per cent hearing loss. You wouldn't believe the amount of money I have spent on hearing aids and therapy. All were useless because my loss is due to nerve damage, which can't be helped.

Abby, everyone shows so much kindness and compassion for a blind or crippled person, but if you happen to be hard of hearing, you are on your own!

If I ask people to please repeat what they've said, they either turn away and ignore me, or say, "Oh, forget it," or "Never mind." Believe me, there is no greater insult to a deaf person.

Abby, please ask people to be a little more patient with those of us who are hard of hearing. All they need do is to speak distinctly and raise their voices just a little. Thank you.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Hearing Problems Fall On Deaf Ears

DEAR ABBY: I wonder how many people have my problem. I have suffered a 75 per cent hearing loss. You wouldn't believe the amount of money I have spent on hearing aids and therapy. All were useless because my loss is due to nerve damage, which can't be helped.

Abby, everyone shows so much kindness and compassion for a blind or crippled person, but if you happen to be hard of hearing, you are on your own!

If I ask people to please repeat what they've said, they either turn away and ignore me, or say, "Oh, forget it," or "Never mind." Believe me, there is no greater insult to a deaf person.

Abby, please ask people to be a little more patient with those of us who are hard of hearing. All they need do is to speak distinctly and raise their voices just a little. Thank you.

Monrovia Garden Club Meets At Five Points UM Church

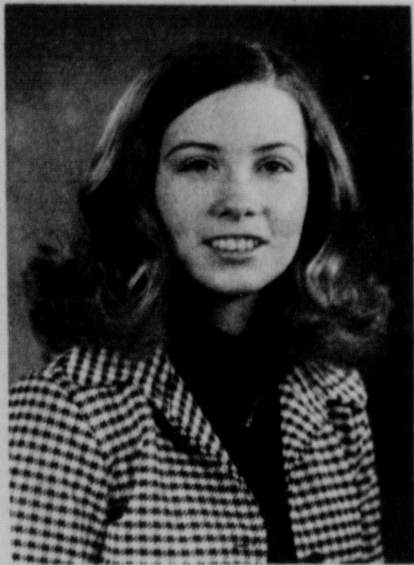

The Monrovia Garden Club met Monday in the basement of the Five Points United Methodist Church for their February meeting. The president Mrs. Margaret Finch opened the meeting and Mrs. Julia Horney gave the devotion by reading the 101 Psalm followed by a poem by Helen Steiner Rice and prayer.

Roll call was answered by nineteen members telling their favorite iris. Laura Long, secretary read the minutes of the last meeting and Ruth O'Day, treasurer, gave the financial report. A letter of appreciation was read from the Orient State School for the Christmas tree presented to them at the holiday season.

The club members voted a contribution to the RIF program and also voted to order 50 evergreen seedlings to plant on Arbor Day. May 15 was the date set for our annual plant sale. Mr. Rhoades of Circleville was our guest speaker for the evening and he gave a very interesting talk about plants and explained the different kinds of plants that will be available.

Mrs. Grace Huffman had a lovely display of seed catalogues told of the new kinds available this year. She also mentioned the old fashioned fruit trees available. Mrs. Pat Fleming displayed several different kinds of evergreen branches and also many shrubs she has growing at her home. She told many interesting facts about several of her specimens.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Fran Follrod, Miss Saralie Grabill and Mrs. Otha Lewis. "Happy Birthday" was sung by the group to Laura Long who was celebrating her birthday that day.

Mrs. Charles DePugh, Mrs. Irene Knox and Mrs. Elizabeth Rodgers will be hostesses for the March meeting.

Policemen Face Trial

CINCINNATI (AP)—Four suspended Cincinnati police will go on trial April 12 on charges of tampering with evidence, obstructing justice, bribery and soliciting improper compensation.

Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Judge William S. Mathews set the date over objections from Assistant Prosecutor Fred Cartolano and the attorney for the four defendants.

Cartolano objected on grounds that many of the six indictments involving suspended Police Chief Carl Goodin are "intertwined" and he would prefer to try one involving Goodin first.

Albert Mechley, who is representing the four policemen, told the judge he was hopeful the trial could be held sooner to relieve his clients of the "mental anguish and suffering" they are undergoing.

The four policemen are Lt. Richard Beyer, Sgt. Urban Ebert and Specialists William Hawthorne and Raymond Easterling.

Agreement Set In UAW Walkout

CAREY, Ohio (AP)—Tentative agreement was reached late Tuesday in a strike in a contract dispute by United Auto Workers Local 1803, which had idled some 240 workers at the Budd Co. plant since Saturday.

Officials said the agreement came after five hours of bargaining with a federal mediator sitting in. Terms of the agreement were not revealed pending a ratification vote Thursday night.

Man Held In Triple Slaying

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Police say Donald Luft, 25, murdered his father, mother and sister during a family argument early Wednesday, stuffed their bodies into the trunk of his mother's car and abandoned the auto at the Columbus airport parking lot.

The young man was charged with three counts of aggravated murder in the shooting deaths of Walter Luft, 58; Dorothy Luft, 53, and Sherry, 22.

Detectives found the bodies in the trunk of the parked car after Donald Luft directed officers to the scene, according to police Sgt. Ralph Arnett.

Police said the shootings occurred in the kitchen, living room and a second-floor bedroom of the family home on Columbus' far east side early Wednesday morning.

Each victim had been shot several times with a .38-caliber handgun.

Detectives said no motive had been established for the shootings, but added they apparently occurred during a family argument.

Police went to the Luft home after being called by the principal of a suburban Whitehall school where Mrs. Luft taught kindergarten. The principal became concerned when Mrs. Luft did not show up at school.

Sherry Luft was a first grade teacher in another Whitehall school.

Walter Luft was a retired landscape architect for the Columbus Parks and Recreation Department.

Anti-Drinking Program Success

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Randy Wood resented it when the judge told him he had a choice of jail or attending a program for persons convicted of driving under the influence of alcohol. "I felt it was none of their business. I drank a few beers sometimes. I can do whatever I want," said Wood. A 19-year-old, unemployed high school dropout. "I thought I'd go in, do my time and get out."

Like others, Wood decided spending three days in a unique residential program was better than 10 days in jail and a $200 fine.

That started a change in Wood, now a graduate of the program which is directed by Ohio University Prof. Richard Nostrant and Thomas J. Cascarino, a graduate student in counseling.

"I resented everything," Wood said. "I hated getting up at 7 o'clock. I hated sitting there all day. It was like going to school, and I hated that."

"But on the last day of the program, I started thinking about what had happened—the movies I had seen, what the counselor had said. I began to realize a lot of things."

"I really found out a lot about myself. It goes beyond drinking," he added.

Wood said he began drinking when he was about 8 years old and became a heavy drinker when he was 13. On the highway, his drinking has resulted in six accidents, three in one night.

Nostrant and Cascarino say Wood's experience represents precisely the success they want for the sessions operated monthly since May 1975.

They want participants to think about themselves.

"We try to show them what alcohol can cost them in their lives—the economic, the emotional, the human and the physical cost," Cascarino said. "We don't try to frighten them, but through seminars, speakers, movies and counseling sessions, we try to help them evaluate the role of alcohol in their lives."

Participants reside in a dormitory and attend sessions from 7 p.m. Thursday through 7 p.m. Sunday. Law enforcement officials have designated the dorm a jail facility to satisfy state requirements.

Cost is $80 per person, $50 of which is deducted from the fines and $30 which goes to the university for room and board.

The fine reduction is another example of the support which Athens County Municipal Court Judge Franklin J. Sheeter has given.

"Sending a person to jail is no solution for the first offender of drunken driving," Sheeter said.

"Nothing is accomplished when they just sit in a jail cell. We've gotten a lot of good comments from attorneys and other officials about what we're doing now."

The reputation of the financially self-sufficient program has spread. Federal and state officials have visited Athens for a look, and Nostrant and Cascarino plan a five-day session in the spring to make their resources available to other officials throughout Ohio.

Locally, 210 persons have been through the program—24 to 36 to a class with less than a dozen staff members in each session, Nostrant said. Success is not universal, he admits, but many participants have had the same experience as Wood who says he hasn't had a drink since graduating. Sheeter says few graduates have returned to his court.

Anti-Drinking Program Success

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Randy Wood resented it when the judge told him he had a choice of jail or attending a program for persons convicted of driving under the influence of alcohol.

"I felt it was none of their business. I drank a few beers sometimes. I can do whatever I want," said Wood, a 19-year-old, unemployed high school dropout. "I thought I'd go in, do my time and get out."

Like others, Wood decided spending three days in a unique residential program was better than 10 days in jail and a $200 fine.

That started a change in Wood, now a graduate of the program which is directed by Ohio University Prof. Richard Nostrant and Thomas J. Cascarino, a graduate student in counseling.

"I resented everything," Wood said. "I hated getting up at 7 o'clock. I hated sitting there all day. It was like going to school, and I hated that."

"But on the last day of the program, I started thinking about what had happened—the movies I had seen, what the counselor had said. I began to realize a lot of things."

"I really found out a lot about myself. It goes beyond drinking," he added.

Wood said he began drinking when he was about 8 years old and became a heavy drinker when he was 13. On the highway, his drinking has resulted in six accidents, three in one night.

Nostrant and Cascarino say Wood's experience represents precisely the success they want for the sessions operated monthly since May 1975.

They want participants to think about themselves.

"We try to show them what alcohol can cost them in their lives—the economic, the emotional, the human and the physical cost," Cascarino said. "We don't try to frighten them, but through seminars, speakers, movies and counseling sessions, we try to help them evaluate the role of alcohol in their lives."

Participants reside in a dormitory and attend sessions from 7 p.m. Thursday through 7 p.m. Sunday. Law enforcement officials have designated the dorm a jail facility to satisfy state requirements.

Cost is $80 per person, $50 of which is deducted from the fines and $30 which goes to the university for room and board.

The fine reduction is another example of the support which Athens County Municipal Court Judge Franklin J. Sheeter has given.

"Sending a person to jail is no solution for the first offender of drunken driving," Sheeter said.

"Nothing is accomplished when they just sit in a jail cell. We've gotten a lot of good comments from attorneys and other officials about what we're doing now."

The reputation of the financially self-sufficient program has spread. Federal and state officials have visited Athens for a look, and Nostrant and Cascarino plan a five-day session in the spring to make their resources available to other officials throughout Ohio.

Locally, 210 persons have been through the program—24 to 36 to a class with less than a dozen staff members in each session, Nostrant said.

Success is not universal, he admits, but many participants have had the same experience as Wood who says he hasn't had a drink since graduating. Sheeter says few graduates have returned to his court.

A child's imagination is wonderful to behold! When Peter went into the woods to collect berries he couldn't find any. Distressed he started crying. All of a sudden the king of blueberry land appeared. Was it Peter's imagination? "Peter's Adventures In Blueberry Land" by Elsa Beskow will answer any questions, you might have about this book. Colorful quaint illustrations help tell the story.

For the child who enjoys exploring a book by himself, "Lost" by Sonia O. Lisker is the newest wordless book we have. This book expresses a wealth of emotions. A little boy becomes separated from his family at a zoo. Suddenly once pleasant surroundings become foreboding. All ends well when the unhappy family finds their son.

Although Jonathan tries hard to disguise Woodrow, a dog, to get past the doorman of the apartment building, they are found out. Finally Woodrow gets through the door and Jonathan finds out why dogs are not allowed in his building. "No Dogs Allowed, Jonathan" by Mary Christian is sure to delight all children.

One Saturday Rabbit starts out for bear's house. Bear always bakes carrot cakes on Saturday! Rabbit's mouth watered at the thought of carrot cake. On his way he is offered other tempting foods, and refuses. But what's this? Bear did not make cake today!!! Find out if he does get to eat carrot cake in "Rabbit Finds A Way" by Judy Delton.

Edward and Elizabeth were an hour early for school so they took their time and watched the city's activities along the way. When they arrived at school no one was there. "No School Today!" by Franz Brandenburg is the hoped-for words of most children.

Walter the Wolf is perfect, but being perfect is hard work and not always fun. Playing the violin, taking singing lessons, and writing poetry are not enough to keep him from being talked into the biting business by a fox. How Walter learns that biting is not what it's cracked up to be makes a humorous tale in "Walter the Wolf" by Marjorie Sharmat.

Come in and see what terrific reading we can offer your child!! While you are in the library selecting books, why not take a few minutes to sign-up your child for story hour?

Judge Orders Certificates Of Death

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP)—A judge has ordered the Chippewa County coroner to issue death certificates for the captain and 28 crew members of the steamer Edmund Fitzgerald, which sank in Lake Superior last November.

An operation officer from the Coast Guard at the Soo and a representative from Oglebay Norton Co., owners of the Fitzgerald testified during the brief hearing Wednesday.

Probate Judge Jack Church said he found that during a violent storm on Nov. 10 northeast of here, the boat sank with no apparent survivors.

He said the captain and crew must be "presumed to have met death by drowning as a result of the sinking."

The court had been petitioned by Oglebay Norton to determine the cause and date of death to expedite settling estates of the missing crew members. Documents filed with the courts listed 60 surviving relatives of the dead crew members.

The 729-foot freighter is believed to have broken in two during the storm.

Parking Fine Proves Light

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Some people can handle anything justice tosses at them.

One suburban Dayton man indicated that he might have a little trouble handling a parking fine meted out by acting Municipal Court Judge Maxwell H. Stamper. But he had a smile on his face at the time.

"I may need some additional time to pay this," he said as he dug into his pocket and pulled out the penny he was required to pay.

Stamper had just looked at a photograph taken by police to show that the unidentified traffic violator had indeed parked improperly, with one wheel on the curb.

Despite the motorists' declaration that he didn't know he was on the curb because of ice and snow, the judge maintained: "The law is the law."

The judge commented later: "I felt the punishment exacted the justice required."

Prisoners Freed By New Drug Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's prison system released 80 prisoners through the end of January because of new, more lenient sentences for some drug offenses, officials say.

The Department of Rehabilitation and Corrections said another 123 inmates had drug-related sentences reduced, although they still have time to serve.

Still more releases and sentence reductions are expected, said Joe Ashley, department spokesman. The department has notified some 1,200 inmates they may be eligible for a sentence modification because of the state's new drug law.

For some of those, however, it would be merely a technical reduction. It would not mean an early release if they are serving a concurrent prison term on some other type of conviction carrying a longer sentence.

The sentence-reduction program has been in effect since Nov. 21, when part of Ohio's new drug code went into effect. It reduced penalties for casual use of drugs such as marijuana.

The law specified the sentences would apply retroactively to those who would have received lesser sentences if their crimes had been committed after the effective date.

Initially, there was some confusion whether the department itself could reduce the sentence and release prisoners. An attorney general's interpretation of the law, however, stipulated that only the courts could change the sentence.

The department's obligation was to advise inmates of the statute change and provide forms and, if necessary, legal assistance in filing them.

Ashley said the 1,200 inmates were notified last November and most were able to fill out the forms without trouble.

"The forms were not that difficult," he said. "But if a guy was not that capable, then there was some assistance given."

Courts apparently have not finished acting on the petitions yet, he said.

The retroactive sentencing provision in the law does not affect those who would have received harsher sentences under the new drug code.

The new law provides stiffer mandatory sentences for persons convicted of dealing in hard drugs such as heroin or cocaine.

Self-Study Set With Workshops

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 10-week self-study course for Ohioans interested in strengthening industrial development in their communities will begin Feb. 16, state Development Director James A. Duerk announced Wednesday.

The program, designed for communities of less than 50,000 persons, will end with a twoday workshop at Clark Technical College in Springfield.

John Rarey, 1827-1866, born on a farm in Groveport, Franklin County, Ohio, gained world fame as a tamer of horses, including outlaw and vicious animals no one else could handle.

Man Still Fights Income Tax System

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Middletown, Ohio sheetmetal worker is making full use of the old maxim that every man is entitled to his day in court.

While his friends packed the usually empty spectator benches, Whitesel Wednesday appeared before the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to once again plead in his own behalf against the income tax system.

"You have chosen a form of civil disobedience that is recognized historically," said Presiding Judge George Edwards. "You have a right to follow it, but if you lose, you have to end up paying the penalty."

"That's the price you must pay no matter how sincere you might be."

Whitesel's sincerity has not brought him success. He was convicted in U.S. District Court last February on charges he failed to file and provide information on 1972 and 1973 income tax returns and for filing false exemption certificates.

He faces two years in prison and fines of $1,500.

The main contention of Whitesel's case is that he did not have to file a tax return because he had never been paid in legal tender.

He said the current monetary system was not valid because it was based on paper notes which had a fluctuating value.

In fact, Whitesel told the judges: "You do not even know how much you are being paid."

"We are painfully sympathetic," smiled Judge Edwards, "but we are not sure the Constitution and the law will view your case as favorably."

Judge Edwards and his two colleagues, who took the case under advisement, listened sympathetically as Whitesel, who has had no legal training, described his problems at being his own counsel.

He complained that he was not able to have a friend act as his counsel, and that he was not able to introduce much of the evidence he had intended during his trial in U.S. District Court.

"We are aware that it is not the easiest thing in the world to be ones own counsel," said Judge Edwards, who nevertheless complimented

Whitesel on his legal brief.

Whitesel was also complimented for his sincerity. After listening to the defendant quote the Bible, the U.S. Constitution and affirm his allegiance to his country, Judge Edwards commented on a government attorney's observation that Whitesel had gone to the newspapers with his crusade.

"One thing you can't say is that he is surreptitious about this matter," Judge Edwards concluded.

Prisoners Freed By New Drug Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's prison system released 80 prisoners through the end of January because of new, more lenient sentences for some drug offenses, officials say.

The Department of Rehabilitation and Corrections said another 123 inmates had drug-related sentences reduced, although they still have time to serve.

Still more releases and sentence reductions are expected, said Joe Ashley, department spokesman. The department has notified some 1,200 inmates they may be eligible for a sentence modification because of the state's new drug law.

For some of those, however, it would be merely a technical reduction. It would not mean an early release if they are serving a concurrent prison term on some other type of conviction carrying a longer sentence.

The sentence-reduction program has been in effect since Nov. 21, when part of Ohio's new drug code went into effect. It reduced penalties for casual use of drugs such as marijuana.

The law specified the sentences would apply retroactively to those who would have received lesser sentences if their crimes had been committed after the effective date.

Initially, there was some confusion whether the department itself could reduce the sentence and release prisoners. An attorney general's interpretation of the law, however, stipulated that only the courts could change the sentence.

The department's obligation was to advise inmates of the statute change and provide forms and, if necessary, legal assistance in filing them.

Ashley said the 1,200 inmates were notified last November and most were able to fill out the forms without trouble.

"The forms were not that difficult," he said. "But if a guy was not that capable, then there was some assistance given."

Courts apparently have not finished acting on the petitions yet, he said. The retroactive sentencing provision in the law does not affect those who would have received harsher sentences under the new drug code.

The new law provides stiffer mandatory sentences for persons convicted of dealing in hard drugs such as heroin or cocaine.

Self-Study Set With Workshops

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 10-week self-study course for Ohioans interested in strengthening industrial development in their communities will begin Feb. 16, state Development Director James A. Duerk announced Wednesday.

The program, designed for communities of less than 50,000 persons, will end with a twoday workshop at Clark Technical College in Springfield.

John Rarey, 1827-1866, born on a farm in Groveport, Franklin County, Ohio, gained world fame as a tamer of horses, including outlaw and vicious animals no one else could handle.

Man Still Fights Income Tax System

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Middletown, Ohio sheetmetal worker is making full use of the old maxim that every man is entitled to his day in court.

While his friends packed the usually empty spectator benches, Whitesel Wednesday appeared before the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to once again plead in his own behalf against the income tax system.

"You have chosen a form of civil disobedience that is recognized historically," said Presiding Judge George Edwards. "You have a right to follow it, but if you lose, you have to end up paying the penalty."

"That's the price you must pay no matter how sincere you might be."

Whitesel's sincerity has not brought him success. He was convicted in U.S. District Court last February on charges he failed to file and provide information on 1972 and 1973 income tax returns and for filing false exemption certificates.

He faces two years in prison and fines of $1,500.

The main contention of Whitesel's case is that he did not have to file a tax return because he had never been paid in legal tender.

He said the current monetary system was not valid because it was based on paper notes which had a fluctuating value.

In fact, Whitesel told the judges: "You do not even know how much you are being paid."

"We are painfully sympathetic," smiled Judge Edwards, "but we are not sure the Constitution and the law will view your case as favorably."

Judge Edwards and his two colleagues, who took the case under advisement, listened sympathetically as Whitesel, who has had no legal training, described his problems at being his own counsel.

He complained that he was not able to have a friend act as his counsel, and that he was not able to introduce much of the evidence he had intended during his trial in U.S. District Court.

"We are aware that it is not the easiest thing in the world to be one's own counsel," said Judge Edwards, who nevertheless complimented

Whitesel on his legal brief.

Whitesel was also complimented for his sincerity. After listening to the defendant quote the Bible, the U.S. Constitution and affirm his allegiance to his country, Judge Edwards commented on a government attorney's observation that Whitesel had gone to the newspapers with his crusade.

"One thing you can't say is that he is surreptitious about this matter," Judge Edwards concluded.

Bicentennial Committee Seeks Ashville Depot

ASHVILLE TRAIN STATION

The committee of The Teays Valley Bicentennial Program and Musical, which is scheduled for two performances at the Teays Valley High School March 26 at 8 p.m. and March 28 at 2:30 p.m. have undertaken a large bicentennial project of restoring and preserving the N & W Depot at the west end of Station Street in Ashville.

Tax Chief Rules Against Farm Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state tax commissioner has determined that delayed price agreements between farmers and grain elevators are subject to the state intangibles tax. James A. Witzel, property tax division administrator for the state tax department, said the tax commissioner issued his decision at the end of January after an administrative hearing. Gary Johnson, a farmer in Hancock County, and the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation challenged the application of the tax to the delayed agreements. Johnson has 30 days to appeal the commissioner's decision to the state Board of Tax Appeals.

Under a delayed price agreement, a farmer delivers grain to an elevator. When done, title to the grain is transferred by the farmer to the grain elevator and a delayed price agreement is entered into. This entitles a farmer to receive payment for his grain anytime he demands it, at the prevailing market price for the grain at that time.

The committee has contacted N & W officials, who recently closed the office, with the hopes of being able to keep it intact so that it can be used by the local service clubs for meetings and to make a small museum in it for future generations to enjoy.

Looking back in the history of Ashville, it is believed to be one of the oldest structures in Ashville and the feelings of the committee are that they want to see it preserved. If the N & W proposes to make arrangements for the Bicentennial Committee to obtain it, they must raise enough money to help with the expense of moving it and finding a piece of land to put it on, as it must be moved from its present location.

The name of this big project, which also stands as a plea to the community, is SOS (Save Our Station). In order to take on this large project the chorus members of the musical will be calling on the community for ads and a patron list, to appear in their Bicentennial Program, that will also include pictures of the early days taken in our community along with the full program, which will become a keepsake for future generations to enjoy.

The committee working on the musical consists of Mrs. Art Deal, Mr. and Mrs. David Dill, and Mrs. Neil Barr. Heading up the SOS project are Don Forquer and Rodger Southward, who will be meeting soon with other representatives of civic clubs in the community to decide further on the station project, after hearing final commitments from the N & W officials.

It is the hopes of everyone involved that the community will get behind this project and help them to realize the goal their setting out to reach.

Rhodes Against Building Authority

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes says the Ohio Building Authority is a waste of tax money and should be abolished.

He proposed Wednesday that its function be taken over by the Ohio Department of Administrative Services, a branch of the governor's office.

"We don't need it," the Republican governor said of the agency he established in 1968 during his last term. "It's a waste of the taxpayers' money."

Dana Stewart, executive director of OBA, said the agency "performs a good service for the state and is efficient."

Stewart was moved from state

Statewide Licensing Plan Eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ministers would be licensed statewide to perform marriages, rather than just in their home counties, under a House bill approved Wednesday by the Senate.

The 24-6 vote returned the measure to the lower chamber for consideration of Senate changes. Under its provisions, the secretary of state would issue licenses, using the same criteria required by the probate judges who now issue county licenses.

Sen. Thomas E. Carney, D-32 Girard, Senate sponsor, said the $1 fee would remain unchanged. Ministers currently holding county licenses could have them replaced for $1.

Senators completed legislative action on two other measures, sending them to the governor.

One would prohibit drugging of horses or other animals entered in competition at state or county fairs. The second expands eligibility for war orphan scholarships to include children of deceased or totally disabled veterans who did not enter military service in Ohio.

The bill requires, however, that any student applying for a state scholarship must have been a resident of Ohio for at least the preceding five years.

Returned to the House for consideration of Senate amendments was another measure that requires election officials to notify voters individually by mail of precinct or polling place changes. The vote was 29-1, with Sen. H. Ben Gaeth, R-1 Defiance, objecting to potential cost increases for local governments.

Name Columbia Gas Directors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — I. L. Briscoe, vice president in charge of rates, and H.C. Taylor, vice president in charge of western operations, were elected Wednesday as directors of Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc.

Briscoe, born in Lancaster, was elected a vice president in 1967. Taylor, born in Arcanum, joined Columbia in 1936 and was elected a vice president in 1963.

adjutant general to his present job by former Gov. John Gilligan just before he left office in January, 1975.

Rhodes said operating funds for OBA's five-member staff could be better used to pay off the agency's debt.

That mainly is just under $83 million which OBA borrowed from the Workman's Compensation Fund to build the new State Office Tower. OBA plans to repay the fund with a bond issue of about $80 million, Stewart said.

Stewart said his office operation costs the state $135,000 per year.

OBA was set up as a semi-autonomous agency to build and operate state office buildings. It is overseen by a three-member board controlled 2-1 by Democrats.

Stewart said it has constructed three buildings and is operating one—the State Office Tower. The other two are operated under a net lease arrangement. These are a facility for the adjutant general's department and hangars at Don Scott Field, an Ohio State University airport in Columbus.

Stewart said the agency has also borrowed $2 million to get started on a proposed state office building in Cleveland.

He called that "project number four" and when asked the progress on it replied:

"It's on dead center right now."

He said design schematics have been approved and that an architect and attorney have been retained.

Rhodes said OBA now serves no function except to collect rent for the State Office Tower from the administrative services department.

Stewart said OBA was set up by the legislature. "It would have to put something in its (OBA) place," he added. "OBA is responsible for finances and someone would have to pick up the debts."

Rhodes executive assistant Thomas J. Moyer met Wednesday with Democratic legislative leaders and Stewart in an effort to hammer out a solution to the tower's financial problems.

House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 Boston, said no agreement was reached, but the parties would meet again Thursday.

Pro-Western Angola Win Sought For U.S. Base Access

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon wants pro-Western factions to win the civil war in Angola so U.S. military planes and ships will have access to Angolan airfields and ports.

This Pentagon stake in Angola was stated for the first time Tuesday by Deputy Defense Secretary Robert Ellsworth.

But Ellsworth told a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on Africa that at this point it would take "more than money" to assure that Angolan factions friendly to the United States could achieve even a stalemate in their war with Soviet-backed forces.

"We hope that the government that finally emerges in Angola will grant us

CES Halts New Hiring

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rising costs combined with budget restrictions have forced Ohio State University's Cooperative Extension Service to halt hiring and cut travel 19 per cent to avoid cutting educational programs.

"We are hurting, but we're doing the best we can....," said Roy M. Kottman, extension director.

The extension is holding 26 of about 400 faculty positions vacant, and administrators expect 24 more vacancies within the next year. That will mean 50 vacancies by the end of the biennium, Kottman said.

To meet the travel cutback, faculty members are staying in the office writing bulletins or preparing slides, radio tapes or television films for mass audiences.

The extension also will hire 90 per cent less part-time help and allocated 20 per cent less money to supplies, equipment and utility costs, Kottman said.

overflight and landing rights, if requested, for our aircraft and the port facilities will be made available for occasional naval ship visits," Ellsworth said.

At the same time, he said, the United States wants to prevent Russia from gaining exclusive use of Angola and its facilities for military purposes.

Ellsworth also assured the senators

Radial Tires Gain Ground

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Radial tires will overcome conventional ply tires as the most popular tires sold in the United States, the chairman of the Goodyear Rubber & Tire Co. predicted Wednesday.

Charles J. Pilliod, the chairman, forecast that radials will capture 35 per cent of the replacement tire market, while conventional bias ply tires will drop to a 34 per cent share of the market. He added that in 1966 conventional tires accounted for 66 per cent of tire sales.

The chairman said the popularity of radials will boost domestic replacement tire sales to $4.8 billion this year.

He also said that one out of every 10 truck tires sold this year will be a radial.

the Defense Department has no knowledge of recruitment of mercenaries to fight against the Soviet-backed faction in Angola, but he said he could not rule out the possibility that U.S. money furnished to anti-Soviet forces may have been used by them to recruit mercenaries.

"We in the Department of Defense have no knowledge of any kind of mercenary operations," he said.

At this stage, no amount of money could be pumped into Angola to produce even a stalemate so a coalition government could be formed, he said. Ellsworth said the Soviet-backed Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola (MPLA) has "overwhelming conventional superiority" with some $200 million in Soviet military aid and 11,000 Cuban soldiers.

Stalemate, he said, would require either the withdrawal of Russian and Cuban assistance "or very large numbers of trained soldiers."

But he declared "unequivocally" the Pentagon "neither recommends nor favors deployment of U.S. military forces to Angola."

If the Soviets are successful either in establishing military bases or winning operating rights in Angola, Ellsworth said their ability to cut vital oil tanker routes would be greatly strengthened.

"The vast majority of ocean traffic — including large tankers carrying oil from the Persian Gulf to Europe and the U.S. — passes some 480 miles off the Angolan coast, affording excellent opportunities for disruptive action from an Angolan base," he said.

Salaries Cut At Mansfield

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Salaried personnel at Mansfield Tire and Rubber Co. have taken a 5 to 10 per cent cut in pay at the plant, said John Jordan, vice president for industrial relations. Officers of the firm have taken 10 per cent cuts, he said.

The cuts are part of a cost reduction program which has been in progress for several years.

Jordan said the company and United Rubber Workers Local 17 "are intensifying our efforts to get productivity up and hold cost per tire down in order to obtain more production for this plant, thus preserving jobs here."

Ohio Weapons Designer Loses Bid To Overturn Law

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Long Beach, Ohio weapons designer lost his second bid to overturn the National Firearms Act and the Gun Control Act of 1968 requiring federal registration of automatic weapons.

The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the 1974 conviction of Francis J. Warin by a federal court in Toledo, Ohio. Warin surrendered himself to federal authorities demanding to be arrested for failing to register a 9mm submachine gun he designed and built.

Warin argued the federal laws violated his rights to own and bear arms. Further, the government recognized this right by taxing transactions of firearms. Lastly, Warin argued that the Ohio Constitution makes all male residents between 17 and 67 eligible to be ordered to militia duty thus enrolling him in a "sedentary militia."

The appellate court ruled against the arguments adding that the right to bear arms is not absolute and does not preclude the gun registration laws.

"Weapon bearing was never treated as anything like an absolute right by the common law," the court said in a unanimous opinion.

"It was regulated by statute as to time and place as far back as the Statute of Northampton in 1368 and on many occasions since."

"There can be no question that an organized society which fails to regulate the importation, manufacture and transfer of the highly sophisticated lethal weapons in existence today does so at its peril," the appellate court said.

The decision dismissed the "sedentary militia" argument as unclear, noting that the law merely subjects Ohioans "to enrollment in that body."

Groups Fight Atom Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, and seven Democratic Ohio members of Congress announced Wednesday they will oppose President Ford's proposal to subsidize commercial uranium enrichment facilities.

Instead, they said in a joint statement, they will support appropriation of funds for expansion of existing government-owned uranium enrichment facilities.

Congressmen joining Glenn in the statement were Reps. Thomas Ashley, Charles Carney, Wayne Hays, Ronald Mottl, James Stanton, Louis Stokes and Charles Vanik.

The Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) operates three uranium enrichment plants, including one at Portsmouth, Ohio.

The lawmakers noted a General Accounting Office study found that expanding public facilities would cost $600 million less than subsidizing a commercial facility with public funds.

Historical reports say the number of Ohio churches increased from 3,900 in 1850 to 5,200 in 1860.

Ohio Weapons Designer Loses Bid To Overturn Law

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Long Beach, Ohio weapons designer lost his second bid to overturn the National Firearms Act and the Gun Control Act of 1968 requiring federal registration of automatic weapons.

The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the 1974 conviction of Francis J. Warin by a federal court in Toledo, Ohio. Warin surrendered himself to federal authorities demanding to be arrested for failing to register a 9mm submachine gun he designed and built.

Warin argued the federal laws violated his rights to own and bear arms. Further, the government recognized this right by taxing transactions of firearms. Lastly, Warin argued that the Ohio Constitution makes all male residents between 17 and 67 eligible to be ordered to militia duty thus enrolling him in a "sedentary militia."

The appellate court ruled against the arguments adding that the right to bear arms is not absolute and does not preclude the gun registration laws.

"Weapon bearing was never treated as anything like an absolute right by the common law," the court said in a unanimous opinion.

"It was regulated by statute as to time and place as far back as the Statute of Northampton in 1368 and on many occasions since."

"There can be no question that an organized society which fails to regulate the importation, manufacture and transfer of the highly sophisticated lethal weapons in existence today does so at its peril," the appellate court said.

The decision dismissed the "sedentary militia" argument as unclear, noting that the law merely subjects Ohioans "to enrollment in that body."

Groups Fight Atom Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, and seven Democratic Ohio members of Congress announced Wednesday they will oppose President Ford's proposal to subsidize commercial uranium enrichment facilities.

Instead, they said in a joint statement, they will support appropriation of funds for expansion of existing government-owned uranium enrichment facilities.

Congressmen joining Glenn in the statement were Reps. Thomas Ashley, Charles Carney, Wayne Hays, Ronald Mottl, James Stanton, Louis Stokes and Charles Vanik.

The Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) operates three uranium enrichment plants, including one at Portsmouth, Ohio.

The lawmakers noted a General Accounting Office study found that expanding public facilities would cost $600 million less than subsidizing a commercial facility with public funds.

Historical reports say the number of Ohio churches increased from 3,900 in 1850 to 5,200 in 1860.

Battle Of The Cats Heads SCOL Play

Something will have to give Friday night when Circleville, the leagues top defensive team, moves into Miami Trace to meet the leading offensive squad in the league in a crucial South Central Ohio League battle.

Circleville is currently leading the league with a record of 9-1, 12-1 overall, while Miami Trace is tied with Washington C. H. for second spot with marks of 7-3. The Panthers are 7-7 overall.

Trace is averaging 74.5 points per contest to hold the honor of being top offense while the Tigers are holding the opposition to 50.7 markers per contest which puts them first in the league defensive play.

Circleville is third in the league in scoring with a game average of 67.2 points a game while Miami Trace has been allowing 65.8 per fray for sixth spot in the SCOL.

Allen Conner leads the Panthers scorers with 17.3 per game, fifth in the league, and Rod Garringer is adding 14.3 per contest and is the leagues' 10th scorer.

Tim Fuller of Hillsboro is the leading scorer with 19.5 but Circleville's Biff Bumgarner is second with 19.3 and George Moore is third with 18.2

"This has to be the most important game in the league this season and we are looking forward to a hard-fought struggle between two very quick teams," Circleville coach Jim Bailey commented.

"Overall, Miami Trace is the best pure-shooting team in the league with an excellent fast break and several outstanding players," Bailey said.

This is one of the key games of the season as a win by the Tigers will definitely put them in the drivers seat but a loss would certainly put the league up for grabs.

The Panthers offense will consist of fast breaks and a 2-1-2 with give and go cuts and some weaving movement. Their main defense is an aggressive man to man but they will also use a 2-1-2 zone.

Trace will use Rod Garringer, 5-foot-9; Art Schlichter, 6-foot-2; Allen Conner, 6-foot; Dan Gifford, 6-foot-1; Joe Black, 6-foot-1; John Schlichter, 6-foot-4; Wendall Logan, 6-foot-2; Bill Hanners, 6-foot-3; and Gary England, 6-foot.

It has been reported out of Miami Trace that the Panthers leading scorer, Allan Conner, injured his hand in practice last week when he hit the backboard.

He played last weekend but reported a numbness in the hand Monday. The doctor diagnosed the injury as a tissue tear in his wrist and he has been wearing a temporary cast.

Conner has not been able to practice this week and it is not known at this time if he will be available for action against Circleville Friday night.

Circleville is injury free but has had some minor flu attacks this week but expect to be at full strength Friday.

The Tigers will start: Mike McCoy and Frank Merrill at the guards, George Moore at center with Biff Bumgarner and Brent Mancini up front.

Warren Yamarick, the sixth starter, Rusty Holbrook, Jeff Williams, Brian Fath, Tom Taylor, Wendell Perkins and Eric Pontius providing bench strength.

"We were certainly pleased with the total hustle of everyone against Wilmington and felt that Biff Bumgarner and an outstanding game with 12 for 19 from the field and 12 rebounds," Bailey stated while discussing last weeks play.

"George Moore gave us another outstanding all-around game with nine of 13 from the floor, five steals and 10 rebounds. Frank Merrill did a fine defensive job on Wilmington's top scorer and also hit three for five.

"Mike McCoy did a great job with five of six from the field and getting five steals. Brent Mancini and Warren Yamarick also played excellent defense for us," Bailey commented.

Other SCOL action Friday night will find Wilmington at Washington C.H.; Greenfield at Unioto; and Madison Plains at Hillsboro.

Jack Nicklaus Cards 69 In Hope Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus sighed, happy and relieved.

"Now," he observed, "I can say my last round was a 69, not an 82."

Nicklaus wiped out the unpleasant memory of his careerhigh round with a three-under-par effort Wednesday that left him just two shots back of leaders

Jim Colbert and Buddy Allin in the first round of the marathon Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

Nicklaus, considered the greatest player of his age, shot an incredible 82 in his last previous outing, two weeks ago in Pebble Beach, Calif.

Former Masters champion Charles Coody had a 68 despite chilly temperatures and winds that gusted to 40 miles an hour and trailed the two leaders by one shot after the first 18 holes of this unique, five-day, four-course, 90-hole tournament.

Nicklaus was tied at 69 with Australian David Graham, Rik Massengale, Bill Rogers and Bob Payne.

Nicklaus and Colbert played at Bermuda Dunes, one of four desert courses used for the first four rounds. Allin and Graham were at Indian Wells. Mason Rudolph, Mike Reasor and Gary McCord with 71s were the best at La Quinta. The 128 pros play one round on each par 72 layout before the final round Sunday at Indian Wells.

Defending champion Johnny Miller had a 71 and Arnold Palmer, a five-time winner here, shot 74, both at Bermuda Dunes.

Lee Trevino, Tom Watson and Ben Crenshaw, the winner of the last two tour events, are not competing.

Adena Girl Cagers Defeat Zane Trace

Adena's girl cagers defeated Zane Trace 64-40 to run their season record to 6-0.

Cindy Noble led the Warriors with 24 points, Ruth Ater added 13 and Debbie Martin hooped 10.

Adena will be home today, facing the girls from Unioto.

North Carolina Tops Detroit Cagers, 91-76

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Things were really jumping in Detroit. It's a shame that the University of Detroit's basketball team wasn't.

For the first time in seven years, they had a capacity crowd in the Titans' Memorial Building Wednesday night. But the hometown team couldn't match the fervor of the hometown fans and as a result, lost a 91-76 decision to fourth-ranked North Carolina.

"We have no excuses," said Detroit Coach Dick Vitale. "We were physically, mentally and emotionally ready for this game. I guess we're a year or so away from being ready for the North Carolinas, the St. Bonaventures, the Arizonas ..."

Detroit took more shots than the Atlantic Coast Conference visitors, but hit less. The Titans also played less defense than the Tar Heels did.

The game was a homecoming for North Carolina's Tom LaGarde, a former Detroit prep star. He rose to the occasion, scoring 21 points and collecting 10 rebounds.

Elsewhere in college basketball, fifth-ranked Maryland whipped Virginia 69-66; No. 11 Notre Dame walloped LaSalle 108-89; Georgetown upset No. 12 St. John's 74-73 in overtime; Kansas State stunned No. 13 Missouri 85-81; 16th-ranked Cincinnati trimmed Pitt 89-77 and No. 19 Western Michigan beat Loyola of Chicago 80-73.

Some 9,500 spectators at Detroit's Memorial Building saw the Titans take 11 more shots than the Tar Heels in the first half but hit only 33 per cent. Yet the Titans managed to stay close, 38-31, at the half and it wasn't until midway through the second half that North Carolina pulled away. Mitch Kupchak, a 6-foot-10, 230-pound senior, scored 15 points in each half, while the 6-10 junior LaGarde had 16 of his points after intermission for Carolina.

Brad Davis' two free throws with three seconds left sealed Maryland's victory over Virginia. Two foul shots by Mo Howard with 17 seconds remaining had given the Terps a 67-64 lead, but Bobby Stokes' tip-in basket pulled the Cavaliers within one point. Virginia then called a timeout but was called for a technical foul for taking too many timeouts.

Adrian Dantley scored 41 points to lead Notre Dame past LaSalle; Derrick Jackson had 23 points and hit a 17-foot jumper with 1:10 to play in overtime, leading Georgetown over St. John's; Chuckie Williams and Mike Evans combined for 52 points as Kansas State stopped Missouri; Cincinnati beat Pitt behind Robert Miller's 21 points and Jeff Tyson and Paul Griffin led Western Michigan's victory.

Silver Medals Won By U.S. Contestants

OLYMPICS OPEN AT INNSBRUCK — Greece leads the participating teams as they march inside Bergisel Stadium in the opening ceremony of the 12th Winter Olympics at Innsbruck. A capacity crowd of 65,000 was on hand for the ritual.

INNSBRUCK (AP) — Cross country skier Bill Koch of Guilford, Vt. and speed skater Sheila Young of Detroit started the United States on the path to gold medal glory today with silver medals in their specialties in the 12th Winter Olympic Games.

The 20-year-old Koch won the silver medal in the men's 30-kilometer cross-country ski race, coming in less than half a minute behind gold medalist Sergey Saveliev of the Soviet Union.

The performance by the 20-year-old Koch, in his first Olympic event, gave the United States its best placing ever in Nordic ski competition. Saveliev was timed in 1 hour 30 minutes 29.38 seconds on the course at nearby Seefeld. Koch was clocked in 1:30:57.84. Ivan Garanin of the Soviet Union won the bronze medal in 1:31:09.29.

Miss Young, a former Olympian in the Summer Games in cycling and in the Sapporo Games in speed skating, won the silver medal in the women's 1,500-meter speed-skating event, coming in behind goldmedal winner Galina Stepankaya of the Soviet Union. World record holder Tatiana Averina of Russia won the bronze.

Miss Stepankaya won the race in 2

minutes 16.58 seconds while Miss Young's runner-up time was 2:17.06.

Miss Averina's third-place time was 2:17.96.

American champion Leah Poulos, 24, of Northbrook, Ill., made a desperate effort to catch up but tired and faded going into the final lap, finishing sixth in 2:19.11.

Norway's Lisbeth Korsmo had the fourth-best time of 2:18.99. East Germany's Karin Kessow, who skated against Miss Young in the ninth pair, was fifth in 2:19.05.

Miss Young's father, Claire Young, said: "She was up for this, even though it was only supposed to be a workout for the other two distances — 500 meters and 1,000 meters."

Miss Young is the world record holder in the 500 meters.

Islanders Top Rangers In NHL, 6-5

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I thought it would give the team a lift, but I didn't plan on using him," was Coach John Ferguson's explanation for suiting up rusty John Davidson as the New York Rangers' back-up goaltender Wednesday night.

But Ferguson's plans went awry when starter Dunc Wilson suffered an injured thumb during a second-period brawl and exactly one month after suffering a broken leg, Davidson was pressed into action. That gave New York a lift, all right ... the New York Islanders.

Davidson replaced Wilson at the start of the third period and the Islanders blasted 14 shots at him, getting goals from Denis Potvin, Clark Gillies, Jean Potvin and Jude Drouin in less than nine minutes to rally from a 4-2 deficit to a 6-5 National Hockey League victory over the Rangers.

Elsewhere, the Atlanta Flames trimmed the California Golden Seals 4-1, the Montreal Canadiens walloped the Chicago Black Hawks 8-3, the Buffalo Sabres nipped the Los Angeles Kings 4-3, the Toronto Maple Leafs and Washington Capitals tied 4-4, the St. Louis Blues and Kansas City Scouts deadlocked 3-3, while the Detroit Red Wings blanked the Minnesota North Stars 5-0.

In World Hockey Association action, the Phoenix Roadrunners trounced the Cleveland Crusaders 5-1 and the San Diego Mariners downed the Minnesota Fighting Saints 4-1.

Gary Ford Quitting Muskegon Mohawks

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — Gary Ford, the leading scorer for the Muskegon Mohawks' International Hockey League squad, told the team Wednesday he is quitting.

Ford, 29, a veteran of nine years with the club, told a reporter later he had decided to retire. Ford had 47 points this season with 15 goals and 32 assists. He holds almost every Muskegon scoring record.

Manager Morris "Moose" Lallo would say only that Ford, a native of Toronto, has been suspended for his actions. Ford said he has no plans for the future and must seek another job.

Virginia then called a timeout but was called for a technical foul for taking too many timeouts.

Adrian Dantley scored 41 points to lead Notre Dame past LaSalle; Derrick Jackson had 23 points and hit a 17-foot jumper with 1:10 to play in overtime, leading Georgetown over St. John's; Chuckie Williams and Mike Evans combined for 52 points as Kansas State stopped Missouri; Cincinnati beat Pitt behind Robert Miller's 21 points and Jeff Tyson and Paul Griffin led Western Michigan's victory.

Silver Medals Won By U.S. Contestants

OLYMPICS OPEN AT INNSBRUCK — Greece leads the participating teams as they march inside Bergisel Stadium in the opening ceremony of the 12th Winter Olympics at Innsbruck. A capacity crowd of 65,000 was on hand for the ritual.

INNSBRUCK (AP) — Cross country skier Bill Koch of Guilford, Vt. and speed skater Sheila Young of Detroit started the United States on the path to gold medal glory today with silver medals in their specialties in the 12th Winter Olympic Games.

The 20-year-old Koch won the silver medal in the men's 30-kilometer cross-country ski race, coming in less than half a minute behind gold medalist Sergey Saveliev of the Soviet Union.

The performance by the 20-year-old Koch, in his first Olympic event, gave the United States its best placing ever in Nordic ski competition. Saveliev was timed in 1 hour 30 minutes 29.38 seconds on the course at nearby Seefeld. Koch was clocked in 1:30:57.84. Ivan Garanin of the Soviet Union won the bronze medal in 1:31:09.29.

Miss Young, a former Olympian in the Summer Games in cycling and in the Sapporo Games in speed skating, won the silver medal in the women's 1,500-meter speed-skating event, coming in behind gold medal winner Galina Stepankaya of the Soviet Union. World record holder Tatiana Averina of Russia won the bronze.

Miss Stepankaya won the race in 2

minutes 16.58 seconds while Miss Young's runner-up time was 2:17.06.

Miss Averina's third-place time was 2:17.96.

American champion Leah Poulos, 24, of Northbrook, Ill., made a desperate effort to catch up but tired and faded going into the final lap, finishing sixth in 2:19.11.

Norway's Lisbeth Korsmo had the fourth-best time of 2:18.99. East Germany's Karin Kessow, who skated against Miss Young in the ninth pair, was fifth in 2:19.05.

Miss Young's father, Claire Young, said: "She was up for this, even though it was only supposed to be a workout for the other two distances — 500 meters and 1,000 meters."

Miss Young is the world record holder in the 500 meters.

Islanders Top Rangers In NHL, 6-5

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I thought it would give the team a lift, but I didn't plan on using him," was Coach John Ferguson's explanation for suiting up rusty John Davidson as the New York Rangers' back-up goaltender Wednesday night.

But Ferguson's plans went awry when starter Dunc Wilson suffered an injured thumb during a second-period brawl and exactly one month after suffering a broken leg, Davidson was pressed into action. That gave New York a lift, all right ... the New York Islanders.

Davidson replaced Wilson at the start of the third period and the Islanders blasted 14 shots at him, getting goals from Denis Potvin, Clark Gillies, Jean Potvin and Jude Drouin in less than nine minutes to rally from a 4-2 deficit to a 6-5 National Hockey League victory over the Rangers.

Elsewhere, the Atlanta Flames trimmed the California Golden Seals 4-1, the Montreal Canadiens walloped the Chicago Black Hawks 8-3, the Buffalo Sabres nipped the Los Angeles Kings 4-3, the Toronto Maple Leafs and Washington Capitals tied 4-4, the St. Louis Blues and Kansas City Scouts deadlocked 3-3, while the Detroit Red Wings blanked the Minnesota North Stars 5-0.

In World Hockey Association action, the Phoenix Roadrunners trounced the Cleveland Crusaders 5-1 and the San Diego Mariners downed the Minnesota Fighting Saints 4-1.

Gary Ford Quitting Muskegon Mohawks

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — Gary Ford, the leading scorer for the Muskegon Mohawks' International Hockey League squad, told the team Wednesday he is quitting.

Ford, 29, a veteran of nine years with the club, told a reporter later he had decided to retire. Ford had 47 points this season with 15 goals and 32 assists. He holds almost every Muskegon scoring record.

Manager Morris "Moose" Lallo would say only that Ford, a native of Toronto, has been suspended for his actions. Ford said he has no plans for the future and must seek another job.

Jack Nicklaus Cards 69 In Hope Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus sighed, happy and relieved.

"Now," he observed, "I can say my last round was a 69, not an 82."

Nicklaus wiped out the unpleasant memory of his career-high round with a three-under-par effort Wednesday that left him just two shots back of leaders

Jim Colbert and Buddy Allin in the first round of the marathon Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

Nicklaus, considered the greatest player of his age, shot an incredible 82 in his last previous outing, two weeks ago in Pebble Beach, Calif.

Former Masters champion Charles Coody had a 68 despite chilly temperatures and winds that gusted to 40 miles an hour and trailed the two leaders by one shot after the first 18 holes of this unique, five-day, four-course, 90-hole tournament.

Nicklaus was tied at 69 with Australian David Graham, Rik Massengale, Bill Rogers and Bob Payne.

Nicklaus and Colbert played at Bermuda Dunes, one of four desert courses used for the first four rounds. Allin and Graham were at Indian Wells. Mason Rudolph, Mike Reasor and Gary McCord with 71s were the best at La Quinta. The 128 pros play one round on each par 72 layout before the final round Sunday at Indian Wells.

Defending champion Johnny Miller had a 71 and Arnold Palmer, a five-time winner here, shot 74, both at Bermuda Dunes.

Lee Trevino, Tom Watson and Ben Crenshaw, the winner of the last two tour events, are not competing.

Junior Vikings Gain Two Wins

Teays Valley's seventh and eighth grade cage teams both came up with wins over visiting Rosemore. The seventh graders won 40-31 while the eighth grade cagers gained a 39-30 verdict.

Joe Chandler was the big man for the seventh grade Vikings with 20 points, Rusty Sturgell tallied 12, Mike Roberts had five, Pat Roese added two and Bill Neal netted one. Stevens led Rosemore with seven markers.

The Viking seventh graders ended their season with a record of 12-3.

Teays Valley's eighth grade team was led by John Sanders with 20 points, R. D. Roese added 13 markers while Shawn Blue, Scott Bartholomew and Bill Pettibone each had two. Green and Justice paced Rosemore with eight points each.

The Vikings eighth graders are now 8-3 and will be at Madison Middle Thursday.

Little Mustangs Lose Tough Tilt

Westfall's seventh grade cage squad dropped a tough 38-37 decision to Grove City and left the Mustangs with a 13-3 record on the season.

The Mustangs held narrow leads at the end of the first three periods, 6-5, 19-16 and 28-27, but Grove City rallied to gain a one-point victory.

Jerry Mowery led all scorers in the game as he netted 18 points for the Mustangs, Ronnie Horney added seven, Greg Beard and Matt Gibson each had four, Lonnie Puckett added three and Jamie Brigner had one.

Herbert was tops for Grove City with 14. Ecos added 13, Methany tallied four, McGinnis netted three while Bessler and Boos each had two.

Adena Girl Cagers Defeat Zane Trace

Adena's girl cagers defeated Zane Trace 64-40 to run their season record to 6-0.

Cindy Noble led the Warriors with 24 points, Ruth Ater added 13 and Debbie Martin hooped 10.

Adena will be home today, facing the girls from Unioto.

Baseball Owners Ponder Next Move

NEW YORK (AP) — Will baseball's owners, with two strikes against them, come out swinging? Or will they give up their turn at bat so the real game can begin?

That's the predicament in which the sports finds itself today after the second of two umpires turned thumbs down on the owners and their inter-

Seattle Baseball Returns

SEATTLE (AP) — After an absence of six years, major league baseball is returning to the Pacific Northwest.

Radio executive Lester Smith and American League President Lee MacPhail hold a press conference today to reveal details of the agreement to operate an expansion franchise here in 1977.

The league was represented here by the ill-fated Seattle Pilots during the 1969 season. The Pilots went bankrupt and were sold to Milwaukee interests, touching off a bitter legal dispute that expansion now is designed to quell.

American League owners formally voted to award the franchise to Smith on Monday. He will head a group that includes his business partner, entertainer Danny Kaye, and four others.

The Smith-Kaye combine tried and failed to buy the Chicago White Sox and the San Francisco Giants before hitting a lawsuit-assisted ownership home run on expansion.

Two conditions have been placed on the deal. First, the league wants to be sure that a satisfactory lease is signed for occupancy of the King County Dorned Stadium, a $60 million structure conceived as a home for the Pilots and now nearing completion.

Owners also want a lawsuit, seeking up to $32.5 million in trebled damages, dismissed in Superior Court at Everett. That suit was filed by the city, King County and the state because the Pilots were moved.

Slate Vote On OU Cash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— State representatives vote today on a bill that appropriates $3.8 million for the new College of Osteopathic Medicine at Ohio University in Athens.

The bill cleared the House Finance Committee earlier this week after it was explained that the money will become available by increasing the bonds that may be sold by the Ohio Public Facilities Commission.

University spokesmen said the funds would be used to finance the conversion of Grosvenor Hall on the OU campus into a facility that will house administrative, instructional, and research activities of the new college.

Officials hope to open the school this fall with an initial class of 24 students.

Brother Geisler Dies At Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Brother John George Geisler, whose 60-year career included teaching two cardinals, an archbishop and a bishop, died Monday. He was 90.

A funeral mass will be held Saturday at the University of Dayton where he retired as a professor emeritus in 1965.

Brother Geisler, a native of Baltimore, professed first vows in the Society of Mary in 1903.

He received a degree in science at the University of Dayton in 1918 and a licentiate in science in 1924 at the University of Fribourg in Switzerland.

pretation of baseball's historic option clause.

On Wednesday in Kansas City, Judge John W. Oliver of U.S. District court upheld the Dec. 23 ruling by arbitrator Peter Seitz that pitchers Andy Messersmith and Dave McNally were free agents because they had played one year behind their contractual commitments.

Seitz' ruling, which the owners sought unsuccessfully to overturn, struck down the ancient interpretation of the option clause that had kept a player with one team as long as that team desired. The new interpretation, which the owners insist would destroy the national pastime, says a player becomes a free agent, available to all 24 major league clubs after he exercises the option year of his contract.

The owners swung and missed against Seitz and didn't connect with Oliver, but another swing — an appeal of Oliver's decision — could jeopardize the 1976 baseball season.

The labor contract between the owners and the Major League Baseball Players Association expired Dec. 31. Negotiations have been under way but fruitless. The union says that the sides will get no closer to an agreement if the owners continue taking their case to court. The owners, meanwhile, have threatened a delay in spring training if there is no signed agreement by then.

"I don't like the idea of them constantly running to court," said Marvin Miller, executive director of the players association, who insists that collective bargaining and litigation just don't mix.

"What we have here is a labor relations problem and it can only be solved in one way — at the bargaining table," Miller said. "We have to negotiate a change."

Miller said the owners are listening to the advice of their lawyers who are not versed in labor relations and have steered a steady course in the direction of the courts.

John J. Gaherin, the owners' bargaining agent and their principal labor relations expert, says his preference is for a negotiated settlement but the owners have the right to take every legal avenue open to them.

Nuggets Edge Squires

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Virginia Squires may be having financial difficulties, but they looked like a million dollars against the Denver Nuggets.

The Squires, in last place and reportedly on the verge of folding, gave the American Basketball Association's leading team all it could handle before succumbing 135-131 in overtime Wednesday night.

"The guys are still playing hard after all they've been through," said Virginia Coach Zelmo Beaty.

The Nuggets had to fight for their lives against their ABA poor cousins.

They trailed in the last minute of overtime before Bobby Jones stole the ball and fed Ralph Simpson for a breakaway basket. Then Claude Terry stole an inbounds pass from the Squires and turned it into a three-point play for the winning margin.

In the night's other ABA games, the Indiana Pacers whipped the Kentucky Colonels 135-116 and the New York Nets defeated the Spirits of St. Louis 117-112.

The Nuggets' victory enabled them to preserve their 4½ game lead over the Nets. Denver appeared to have the game won in regulation play when Simpson, who finished with 34 points, scored on a 22-foot jumper with nine seconds left. But Swen Nater threw in a tip with two seconds on the clock to send the game into overtime.

shooting performance.

"Their quickness was the difference," Haley said. "We couldn't get our zone to react to their quick passing."

The Orangemen had some trouble with Bowling Green's zone defense during the first 10 minutes of the game, hitting only 28 per cent of their shots from the field during that stretch.

But they soon overcame that problem and moved from a 30-29 deficit to a 47-36 halftime lead.

"We passed well, we rebounded well and in the second half we shot well," beamed Syracuse Coach Roy Danforth. "I thought we did a better job of moving the ball inside their zone than we have in any game this year."

Syracuse controlled the boards 60-36 with Marty Byrnes pulling down a game-high 18 rebounds. Byrnes also scored 19 points, just behind Chris Sease with 21 and Jim Williams with 20, to help the team notch its 15th victory in 18 games.

In other major college basketball action involving Ohio teams Wednesday night, Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh 89-77, Xavier downed Wheeling 95-73 and Virginia Tech defeated Ohio University 86-66.

The 16th ranked Bearcats got off to an atrocious start, missing 14 of its first 16 shots, and had to play catchup before spurting to a 40-34 halftime lead. Cincinnati commanded play in the second period.

Robert Miller pumped in 21 points in helping the Bearcats improve their record to 16-3. Larry Harris of Pittsburgh (7-13) took game scoring honors with 26 points.

UC Coach Gale Catlett credited Pitt's defense for the Bearcats' icy start. "Pitt's a pesky defensive team. But we didn't have the intensity early. We were up by six at halftime and we should have been ahead by 20. We must have missed 10 layups."

Xavier recorded its ninth victory in 17 games as Dale Haarman poured in 27 points and Nick Daniels added 21. The Muskateers dominated the backboards 61-28.

Virginia Tech held Ohio scoreless for the last two minutes of the first half and first eight minutes of the second period while opening up a 28-point lead. The loss dropped the Bobcats to an 8-9 record.

In Ohio Conference action, Oberlin surprised Northern Division leader Ohio Northern 71-60 behind Jimmy Jones' 25-point performance, while Marietta shot a hot 63 per cent from the field to beat Muskingum 70-55 and Denison downed Ohio Wesleyan 61-53 with a closing eight-point spurt.

Defiance defeated Bluffton 97-81 in Hoosier-Buckeye Conference play, while Allegheny edged John Carroll 68-63 in a Presidents Conference game.

Elsewhere, it was Akron 77, Cleveland State 61; Malone 88, Walsh 86; Wright State 91, Northern Kentucky State 87, and Youngstown State 77, Gannon 64.

PUCO Sets Gas Service Hearings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio is seeking to remove an obstacle to redevelopment of inner cities.

The PUCO has scheduled a hearing March 1 to set state and industry policy on reconnecting gas service to homes and small businesses.

The commission has proposed a plan which would remove time limits on reconnecting to existing building, set up a uniform for transfer of service and define new service.

The transfer clause would prohibit moving service from an "inner city."

"A concerted effort must be made to save Ohio's inner city areas," said commissioner David Sweet. "This portion of our proposed plan should provide an incentive for the revitalization of those areas."

A PUCO spokesman said some persons moving into homes and small commercial shops which have been closed for a year or more have found they cannot have gas service renewed.

"People who took advantage of the federal government's $1-a-home plan in the inner city often found their first and biggest problem was to lay out $3,000 to $4,000 for a new heating system," the spokesman said.

The PUCO proposal to remove reconnection time limits is designed to solve that problem, he said.

Ohio's seven largest utilities have been required to submit data on how much consumption is represented by meters out of service Dec. 31, 1975, and what administrative problems would result if the commission proposal became law, the spokesman said.

Turn Down Bail Bid

CINCINNATI (AP)—The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has denied an emergency motion for bail pending appeal for a key witness in the investigation into the disappearance of Teamsters leader James R. Hoffa.

The appellate court Tuesday cited a failure to follow judicial procedure as its reason for denying bail for Stephen Andretta, a business agent for Teamsters Local 560 in Union City, N.J.

Andretta was held in contempt of court and jailed after he declined to answer a question December 11 before a Detroit federal grand jury.

U.S. District Court Judge Ralph Freeman ordered Andretta jailed after he declined to disclose his whereabouts on July 30, the day that Hoffa disappeared.

The appellate court last week upheld Judge Freeman's order, noting that Andretta could get out of jail merely by answering the question.

Seattle Baseball Returns

SEATTLE (AP) — After an absence of six years, major league baseball is returning to the Pacific Northwest.

Radio executive Lester Smith and American League President Lee MacPhail hold a press conference today to reveal details of the agreement to operate an expansion franchise here in 1977.

The league was represented here by the ill-fated Seattle Pilots during the 1969 season. The Pilots went bankrupt and were sold to Milwaukee interests, touching off a bitter legal dispute that expansion now is designed to quell.

American League owners formally voted to award the franchise to Smith on Monday. He will head a group that includes his business partner, entertainer Danny Kaye, and four others. The Smith-Kaye combine tried and failed to buy the Chicago White Sox and the San Francisco Giants before hitting a lawsuit-assisted ownership home run on expansion.

Two conditions have been placed on the deal. First, the league wants to be sure that a satisfactory lease is signed for occupancy of the King County Domes Stadium, a $60 million structure conceived as a home for the Pilots and now nearing completion.

Owners also want a lawsuit, seeking up to $32.5 million in trebled damages, dismissed in Superior Court at Everett. That suit was filed by the city, King County and the state because the Pilots were moved.

Slate Vote On OU Cash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State representatives vote today on a bill that appropriates $3.8 million for the new College of Osteopathic Medicine at Ohio University in Athens.

The bill cleared the House Finance Committee earlier this week after it was explained that the money will become available by increasing the bonds that may be sold by the Ohio Public Facilities Commission.

University spokesmen said the funds would be used to finance the conversion of Grosvenor Hall on the OU campus into a facility that will house administrative, instructional, and research activities of the new college.

Officials hope to open the school this fall with an initial class of 24 students.

Brother Geisler Dies At Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Brother John George Geisler, whose 60-year career included teaching two cardinals, an archbishop and a bishop, died Monday. He was 90.

A funeral mass will be held Saturday at the University of Dayton where he retired as a professor emeritus in 1965.

Brother Geisler, a native of Baltimore, professed first vows in the Society of Mary in 1903.

He received a degree in science at the University of Dayton in 1918 and a licentiate in science in 1924 at the University of Fribourg in Switzerland.

pretation of baseball's historic option clause.

On Wednesday in Kansas City, Judge John W. Oliver of U.S. District court upheld the Dec. 23 ruling by arbitrator Peter Seitz that pitchers Andy Messersmith and Dave McNally were free agents because they had played one year behind their contractual commitments.

Seitz' ruling, which the owners sought unsuccessfully to overturn, struck down the ancient interpretation of the option clause that had kept a player with one team as long as that team desired. The new interpretation, which the owners insist would destroy the national pastime, says a player becomes a free agent, available to all 24 major league clubs after he exercises the option year of his contract.

The owners swung and missed against Seitz and didn't connect with Oliver, but another swing — an appeal of Oliver's decision — could jeopardize the 1976 baseball season.

The labor contract between the owners and the Major League Baseball Players Association expired Dec. 31. Negotiations have been under way but fruitless. The union says that the sides will get no closer to an agreement if the owners continue taking their case to court. The owners, meanwhile, have threatened a delay in spring training if there is no signed agreement by then.

"I don't like the idea of them constantly running to court," said Marvin Miller, executive director of the players association, who insists that collective bargaining and litigation just don't mix.

"What we have here is a labor relations problem and it can only be solved in one way — at the bargaining table," Miller said. "We have to negotiate a change."

Miller said the owners are listening to the advice of their lawyers who are not versed in labor relations and have steered a steady course in the direction of the courts.

John J. Gaherin, the owners' bargaining agent and their principal labor relations expert, says his preference is for a negotiated settlement but the owners have the right to take every legal avenue open to them.

Nuggets Edge Squires

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Virginia Squires may be having financial difficulties, but they looked like a million dollars against the Denver Nuggets.

The Squires, in last place and reportedly on the verge of folding, gave the American Basketball Association's leading team all it could handle before succumbing 135-131 in overtime Wednesday night.

"The guys are still playing hard after all they've been through," said Virginia Coach Zelmo Beaty.

The Nuggets had to fight for their lives against their ABA poor cousins. They trailed in the last minute of overtime before Bobby Jones stole the ball and fed Ralph Simpson for a breakaway basket. Then Claude Terry stole an inbound pass from the Squires and turned it into a three-point play for the winning margin.

In the night's other ABA games, the Indiana Pacers whipped the Kentucky Colonels 135-116 and the New York Nets defeated the Spirits of St. Louis 117-112.

The Nuggets' victory enabled them to preserve their 4½ game lead over the Nets. Denver appeared to have the game won in regulation play when Simpson, who finished with 34 points, scored on a 22-foot jumper with nine seconds left. But Swen Nater threw in a tip-in with two seconds on the clock to send the game into overtime.

shooting performance.

"Their quickness was the difference," Haley said. "We couldn't get our zone to react to their quick passing."

The Orangemen had some trouble with Bowling Green's zone defense during the first 10 minutes of the game, hitting only 28 per cent of their shots from the field during that stretch.

But they soon overcame that problem and moved from a 30-29 deficit to a 47-36 halftime lead.

"We passed well, we rebounded well and in the second half we shot well," beamed Syracuse Coach Roy Danforth. "I thought we did a better job of moving the ball inside their zone than we have in any game this year."

Syracuse controlled the boards 60-36 with Marty Byrnes pulling down a game-high 18 rebounds. Byrnes also scored 19 points, just behind Chris Sease with 21 and Jim Williams with 20, to help the team notch its 15th victory in 18 games.

In other major college basketball action involving Ohio teams Wednesday night, Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh 89-77, Xavier downed Wheeling 95-73 and Virginia Tech defeated Ohio University 86-66.

The 16th ranked Bearcats got off to an atrocious start, missing 14 of its first 16 shots, and had to play catchup before spurting to a 40-34 halftime lead. Cincinnati commanded play in the second period.

Robert Miller pumped in 21 points in helping the Bearcats improve their record to 16-3. Larry Harris of Pittsburgh (7-13) took game scoring honors with 26 points.

UC Coach Gale Catlett credited Pitt's defense for the Bearcats' icy start. "Pitt's a pesky defensive team. But we didn't have the intensity early. We were up by six at halftime and we should have been ahead by 20. We must have missed 10 layups."

Xavier recorded its ninth victory in 17 games as Dale Haarman poured in 27 points and Nick Daniels added 21. The Musketeers dominated the backboards 61-28.

Virginia Tech held Ohio scoreless for the last two minutes of the first half and first eight minutes of the second period while opening up a 28-point lead. The loss dropped the Bobcats to an 8-9 record.

In Ohio Conference action, Oberlin surprised Northern Division leader Ohio Northern 71-60 behind Jimmy Jones' 25-point performance, while Marietta shot a hot 63 per cent from the field to beat Muskingum 70-55 and Denison downed Ohio Wesleyan 61-53 with a closing eight-point spurt.

Defiance defeated Bluffton 97-81 in Hoosier-Buckeye Conference play, while Allegheny edged John Carroll 68-63 in a Presidents Conference game.

Elsewhere, it was Akron 77, Cleveland State 61; Malone 88, Walsh 86; Wright State 91, Northern Kentucky State 87, and Youngstown State 77, Gannon 64.

PUCO Sets Gas Service Hearings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio is seeking to remove an obstacle to redevelopment of inner cities.

The PUCO has scheduled a hearing March 1 to set state and industry policy on reconnecting gas service to homes and small businesses.

The commission has proposed a plan which would remove time limits on reconnecting to existing building, set up a uniform for transfer of service and define new service.

The transfer clause would prohibit moving service from an "inner city."

"A concerted effort must be made to save Ohio's inner city areas," said commissioner David Sweet. "This portion of our proposed plan should provide an incentive for the revitalization of those areas."

A PUCO spokesman said some persons moving into homes and small commercial shops which have been closed for a year or more have found they cannot have gas service renewed.

"People who took advantage of the federal government's $1-a-home plan in the inner city often found their first and biggest problem was to lay out $3,000 to $4,000 for a new heating system," the spokesman said.

The PUCO proposal to remove reconnection time limits is designed to solve that problem, he said.

Ohio's seven largest utilities have been required to submit data on how much consumption is represented by meters out of service Dec. 31, 1975, and what administrative problems would result if the commission proposal became law, the spokesman said.

Turn Down Bail Bid

CINCINNATI (AP) — The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has denied an emergency motion for bail pending appeal for a key witness in the investigation into the disappearance of Teamsters leader James R. Hoffa.

The appellate court Tuesday cited a failure to follow judicial procedure as its reason for denying bail for Stephen Andretta, a business agent for Teamsters Local 560 in Union City, N.J.

Andretta was held in contempt of court and jailed after he declined to answer a question December 11 before a Detroit federal grand jury.

U.S. District Court Judge Ralph Freeman ordered Andretta jailed after he declined to disclose his whereabouts on July 30, the day that Hoffa disappeared.

The appellate court last week upheld Judge Freeman's order, noting that Andretta could get out of jail merely by answering the question.

NEW YORK (AP) — Question: If a wealthy fan of a presidential candidate buys air time to tout his man — but his man hasn't authorized it — can the opposition demand equal air time from the radio or TV stations involved?

Answer from the Federal Communications Commission: We don't know.

The question never has come up for a ruling, the FCC says.

But it may, due to the recent Supreme Court overhaul of federal election finance rules which could pave the way for a big broadcast blitz on behalf of a candidate, with no spending limits on those paying for it.

The court left as is the current $1,000 limit any individual can contribute to a candidate's election each year.

But it held that individuals or groups can spend — as opposed to contribute — without limit to promote their man, as long as he or his campaign troops haven't authorized it or discussed the matter.

If any such prearrangement in this outside spending is proved, the spending is considered a contribution subject to limit, if not politically embarrassing cries of illegality from the opposition.

But if they obey the law, there's nothing to prevent individuals or groups from running a massive, costly wildcat campaign on the air when their candidate and his committees say they didn't authorize it.

The FCC says it has no limits on how much can be spent for political advertising on radio and television. It says when a legally qualified presidential candidate buys air time to speak his piece, the broadcaster must give the opposition a similar opportunity.

But what about equal time for opponents of a candidate who, although he hasn't authorized it, is praised in a broadcast and for which air time was bought by an independent, unofficial group of supporters?

"Well, you have raised a question the commission has never had to decide," an FCC spokesman said.

Those who hate political advertising on radio and TV can relax for the time being. ABC, CBS and NBC say no one has yet approached them to buy air time for an unauthorized-by-the-candidate campaign. However, it may happen to local stations during primary races.

What are the chances of such wildcat campaigns on the air this year?

"Well, there's always the possibility that somebody's going to do it on a small scale," says Herbert Alexander, an authority on campaign finance laws and director of the Citizens Research Foundation, which studies political campaign spending.

"Whether it would even involve the broadcast media or very much money is very hard to predict," he said.

"Well, I think it's more likely that that kind of independent spending is more likely to take place in the print media than in broadcasting."

"The reason is, you occasionally see a full page newspaper ad that says, 'This is why I'm supporting candidate X.' But you don't often hear television or radio spots saying the same thing."

"And so I don't think it's likely to affect the broadcast media as much as it would the print media."

Nova Scotia is Canada's only province with its own flag granted by royal charter. The flag originated with the Charter of New Scotland given in 1621 to Sir William Alexander by James I and of Scotland as James VI.

But if they obey the law, there's nothing to prevent individuals or groups from running a massive, costly wildcat campaign on the air when their candidate and his committees say they didn't authorize it.

The FCC says it has no limits on how much can be spent for political advertising on radio and television. It says when a legally qualified presidential candidate buys air time to speak his piece, the broadcaster must give the opposition a similar opportunity.

But what about equal time for opponents of a candidate who, although he hasn't authorized it, is praised in a broadcast and for which air time was bought by an independent, unofficial group of supporters?

"Well, you have raised a question the commission has never had to decide," an FCC spokesman said.

Those who hate political advertising on radio and TV can relax for the time being. ABC, CBS and NBC say no one has yet approached them to buy air time for an unauthorized-by-the-candidate campaign. However, it may happen to local stations during primary races.

What are the chances of such wildcat campaigns on the air this year?

"Well, there's always the possibility that somebody's going to do it on a small scale," says Herbert Alexander, an authority on campaign finance laws and director of the Citizens Research Foundation, which studies political campaign spending.

"Whether it would even involve the broadcast media or very much money is very hard to predict," he said.

"Well, I think it's more likely that kind of independent spending is more likely to take place in the print media than in broadcasting."

"The reason is, you occasionally see a full page newspaper ad that says, 'This is why I'm supporting candidate X.' But you don't often hear television or radio spots saying the same thing."

"And so I don't think it's likely to affect the broadcast media as much as it would the print media."

Nova Scotia is Canada's only province with its own flag granted by royal charter. The flag originated with the Charter of New Scotland given in 1621 to Sir William Alexander by James I and of Scotland as James VI.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Be careful in handling personal affairs; there may be some tricky areas, some kinks to iron out before taking action. Some conflict of interest indicated.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A period for review, reevaluation of your present status. Make certain you are quite sure of what you REALLY want.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A new venture ahead? Don't forget that the advance planning and first moves are vitally important. Don't let "tradition" keep you from trying a new approach.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Be careful how you express yourself. Reach conclusions in your usual logical, orderly manner. Your decisions could affect many; also your example.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Several ideas for making money may come to you, but be selective. You can't grab the whole bag. Choose the best, then go ahead — with enthusiasm.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Pull down undesirable barriers; recognize real obstacles. With everything in clear focus, you can plan your strategy more effectively.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You may have to accomplish more than anticipated, but do not let anything stymie you or your enthusiasm. Stars are on your side.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Do not jeopardize a fine opportunity to stabilize your REAL interests through indifference and DO by-pass nonessentials. Have a try at an eye-catching new method.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Operate today within the framework of a program that will allow for some extra responsibilities. This may sound somewhat difficult, but it will be essential.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Apply the brakes if you sense that you are overreaching, overshooting the mark. Don't try to follow a set pattern at all times; New trends often call for readjustments.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): If you have a problem to solve, wait until early afternoon when influences will be more propitious than in the a.m. It may be better for you to modify your attitudes and demands.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Opponents to your policy may have a point or two. Try for clarification. Some differences can be avoided.

YOU BORN TODAY are intellectually inclined and have the ability to make ordinary circumstances turn into golden opportunities for gain. You can go it alone or work amicably with others, and you like joining in activities with people who do things with flair, but with little fuss. Your logic and gift for concentration are outstanding. Birthdate of: Aaron Burr, early Amer. statesman; Sir Henry Irving, dramatic actor; Zsa Zsa Gabor, Hung. actress; Ronald Reagan, screen actor; Gov. of California.

Leaving Home Best, Woman Discovers

Editor's Note: An increasing number of Americans are making major lifestyle changes which often bring emotional turmoil to their families. Here is the last of four portraits of people who changed their way of living.

By VICTORIA GRAHAM
Associated Press Writer

"I wanted to walk out the door and march to the horizon and never stop. "My kids were unhappy, my husband was unhappy and I was miserable. Who benefited? Why stay?"

Karen didn't stay. Two years ago she left her marriage of 26 years and her seven children. There had been boredom, drudgery, baby after baby. There was an alcoholic husband, a nervous breakdown, little money. There was no time for literature and the things she loved.

"I felt as though I was dying," recalls Karen, now 46 and a Richmond, Va., resident.

She moved in with a lover, went to graduate school, became a feminist — and deeply missed her 13-year-old son, Bobby.

After six uneasy months she moved back home, she and her college professor husband leading separate lives, sleeping in separate bedrooms. He called her "the star boarder," "the golden girl."

Life didn't get better. She moved out again — this time for good — in May of 1974. Today she is an administrator with a small company, making $250 a week, sharing an apartment with another woman.

Karen, not her real name, is active in the National Organization for Women and organizes conferences for older women.

"We have to realize that we did what we did, did the best we could. Now we look ahead," she says.

"Leaving was the right thing to do. I should have left sooner," Karen says. "But I wrote half the script. Recrimination and resentment are acids that burn you up inside and don't do anyone any good."

Karen looks back on her marriage as being "one baby after another. I was scrubbing floors and running the house. I was barefoot and pregnant. There wasn't enough money."

"I put my husband through graduate school. I had been educated to higher expectations. Then he, an English professor, was doing what I wanted to do."

"I was in the harness and my mind was stagnant," recalls Karen, a strong, energetic, animated woman. She was a brilliant and precocious student, the first woman in her family to attend college. She earned a master's degree in English literature.

"I felt guilty because I wasn't happy in my marriage," she says. "I had beautiful children, a handsome professional husband and a house in the suburbs. I felt it was my fault."

"I would get depressed. My husband found me unsexy and uncommunicative. I wasn't easy to live with."

Karen first decided to leave her suburban marriage after she and her teen-age children took part in a psychodrama that left her "wrecked and bleeding inside."

They accused her of not being loving toward her husband, a brilliant, sometimes charming, sometimes helpless man. He himself once walked out briefly, saying he needed peace to write his dissertation. By the time Karen was 35, he was having a love affair with a 20-year-old woman.

Once she packed his bags and school books and papers and asked him to leave. He returned in the snow at Christmas time, tears in his eyes. She took him back.

In the psychodrama, Karen literally shrank into a fetal position.

"I felt such pain, and yet it was therapeutic," she says. "It made me ask basic questions about my life:

"Why all this sacrifice? What about the things I wanted: the literature, the art, the music, the travel?"

She sat down and listed all the worst and best things that could happen if she left, "and the good outweighed the bad."

Karen had been working in a computer firm, rising rapidly in a new field to earn $15,000 a year to put a daughter in a hospital and private school.

"I ran the house, I worked, I went to graduate school. My husband and I were strangers."

She walked into the kitchen one night as he was preparing a gourmet dinner. "Why do you look so grim?" he asked.

"I have something important to say," Karen said.

"I want to leave."

"Is that a threat?"

"I mean it. I feel I am going under and I need a period of regeneration. I must get out."

She recalled that "he was rather pleased. He had his routine and a 10-year-old son and 15-year-old daughter at home to keep house. The older children were away."

"The only one who wasn't pleased was my little one," said Karen, a catch in her throat. "We were such pals."

"No, Mommy, I don't want you to go," Bobby cried.

"Sweetheart, I won't go far," she told him. "I'll call you every Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. I'll put in a special telephone and give the number only to you. On weekends we'll go horseback riding."

She said: "He had friends and a school, and I couldn't uproot him, for his own sake. I hoped he and his father would become closer. It's painful to me, but they have and my husband has bent over backwards with him."

Finally, she said: "I was the odd man out." Her love affair came apart.

Karen moved back home, holding a job, helping with the housework, but refusing to assume the household. "We slept in separate bedrooms," she said.

"I came to realize that I had married a man who was not the marrying kind. "I had one foot in and one foot out the door. I asked if we could work something out."

They did.

Now Karen lives apart, missing her son, hoping, finding her own way.
